Germans and Austrians Suffer Defeat on All Sides and Are Forced Backward With Terrible Losses as British Trip-Hammer and Russian Steam Roller Continue to Advance.

BATTLE LINE 200 MILES IN LENGTH MAY SOON SWEEP GERMAN TERRITORY

Allies Continue to Drive Invaders Toward French Frontier—Germans Now Have Every Man in Field and Rush Troops to Left Wing—Austria, Suffering Defeat, is on Verge of Suing for Peace—Rapidity With Which Russians Advance Surprises Military Experts.

London, Sept. 10.—Premier Asquith today asked Parliament to add another half million men of all ranks to the regular army. This suggestion was approved. The recruiting was so successful that by September 9, 439,000 men have joined, making the total under arms only about 60,000 less than the 900,000 planned for. The second half million, asked for today, will bring the total army up to approximately 1,400,000 men.

Washington, September 10.—Great Britain is determined not to make peace until she has decisively defeated Germany. This sentiment has been conveyed to President Wilson in dispatches from Ambassador Page at London.

London, September 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Ghent says: "It is estimated that from 30,000 to 40,000 German soldiers have arrived at Brussels. This indicates that the German reserve is completely mobilized.

London, September 10.—The Official Press Bureau has given out the following statement: "The battle continued yesterday. The enemy has been driven back all along the line. Sir John French reports that our first corps has buried 200 German dead and taken 12 Maxim guns."

London, September 10.—Many English breakfasts were untasted this morning while the people read the graphic account by Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces on the continent, of the heroic fight made by the British expeditionary force to keep from being annihilated. Like a wildcat pursued by hounds the British forces backed stubbornly toward the river Oise, constantly showing its teeth but realizing that it must attain the river or perish.

General French's frank confession has fallen like a bombshell on the English public, who, up to the present time, have not been permitted to know how hard pressed their army has been.

On August 26th the British forces, according to their commander, faced the bulk and strength of four German army corps and were in danger of being surrounded and destroyed. The heroic stand of General Smith Dorrien, on the British left, undoubtedly saved the day.

On this day the British stood alone; even the French cavalry, on account of the exhaustion of their horses, being unable to cover the retreat. Great comfort is derived by the British public from this report, particularly from the indications that throughout these trials their troops never lost their morale.

The feeling of optimism which has prevailed in England during the last 24 hours has had only one check; this was the report of the wreck of the steamer, Oceanic.

Exultant messages from Petrograd and admissions of disasters from Vienna indicate that the long series of military misfortunes, marking the history of the dual monarchy, are about to be capped with an unparalleled debacle which may not only open the road to Berlin but bring Austria to suffer peace.

The armies in the west seemed as if pausing to watch the fateful drama in Galicia, the outcome of which may have a tremendous effect on the plans of the invaders in the western theater of war as well as upon the allies themselves in that region.

The news from Belgium indicates that the Germans are preparing for eventualities by rushing reinforcements southward. The first definite indication of this movement is given in a dispatch from Belgium which relates that the German force that has been waiting outside Ghent for the levy of provisions demanded from that city has left hurriedly in a southeasterly direction.

England has looked hopefully for the Russian "steam roller" to get under way but the impetus which the Russian army in the eastern theater of war already has acquired has surprised even the military experts. The movement of the Russian advance has been so speedy that the German divisions advancing on the Vistula are hardly likely to arrive in time to assist their sorely pressed ally in Galicia.

The Russian advance now occupies almost a straight line from Koenigsberg on the Baltic to Cracow. If Austria is disposed of, a tremendous battle line from 200 to 300 miles may sweep into the German empire.

That the enemy was driven back along the line yesterday is the news, cheering to British readers, that Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces, sent to England this afternoon from the battle line of the allies to the east of Paris. This statement of the British commander is driven home to Englishmen by the further announcement of the annexation by British troops of a dozen German Maxim guns and a battery of German field guns and it is further emphasized by official confirmation of the capture of numbers of German prisoners.

Field Marshal French's telegram shows that fighting of the fiercest character is in progress and his statement that the German forces are very exhausted confirms unofficial information from other quarters that the counter attack of the allies has been delivered with such speed and impetuosity that the invaders have been given no chance to recover from the effects of their rush from the north.

Paris, September 10.—The left end of the curved German battle line which, on September 7 extended in the segment of a wide circle from Meaux to Vitry-Le-Francois, about 100 miles to the east of Paris, was hit by the English trip hammer yesterday and forced to double back for a distance of approximately twenty miles.

This outcome of the fighting has aroused great satisfaction in Paris. It is argued that it probably has resulted in an equal degree of anxiety for the German general staff, concerning its line of communication.

In spite of the contained soberness of the French official communications on the progress of these engagements, it is evident that the actions of yesterday and the day before constituted one of the hottest battles of the war. Yesterday evening a large number of automobiles, loaded with stretchers, speeded out of Paris toward the east. This fact might suggest also that yesterday's action was one of the most costly advantages so far gained by the Allies.

The Germans seem to have realized that they have been led into a dangerous position, for they have brought up reinforcements for their left. In spite, however, of their desperate attacks, the English troops not only held the ground already gained, but forged ahead.

While the official reports fail to indicate the direction in which the Germans have retired it is believed here that they have withdrawn to the northeast in the direction of Epernay, a town about 70 miles from Paris.

The British troops, having crossed the river Marne, are now in a position to follow up their successes. They are menacing the Germans constantly with a turning movement. This is particularly true in that they have the support of the French forces, left on the banks of the river Ourcq, who are ready to deal with any German reinforcements that may be brought into action.

ALLIES SORELY PRESSING GERMANS

Washington, September 10.—The French Embassy today received the following dispatch from Bordeaux, bearing yesterday's date: "The right wing of the Germans has been withdrawn north of the Petit Morin, though fighting on the eighth, and has been sharply attacked on the right bank of the Ourcq. Our troops are making progress at Sezanne. A sharp fight is taking place in our center with alternation of progress and recession. The situation continues to be favorable at Nancy and in the Vosges, on the right wing."

AUSTRIA DISCOURAGED BY GERMANY'S FAILURE

Petrograd, September 10.—Austria may sue for peace as a result of the terrific defeat she has suffered in Galicia, according to semi-official reports in circulation here today. It is said that the Austro-Hungarian government is disgruntled over Germany's failure to send more troops into Galicia and threatened with internal troubles, will seek the best terms possible.

London, September 10.—A dispatch to the Reuter Agency from Petrograd says that the Austrians have begun evacuation of Cracow.

Berlin Claims German Forces Captured 40,000 Prisoners, Including French and English Troops—Four Generals and 400 Guns Also Seized. Russians Signally Defeat Austrians Thirty Miles Northwest of Lemberg—Germany Floats Loan.

Paris, Sept. 10.—Everything points to the belief that the French are gaining real successes which will be decisive if the center in the Vitry-le-Francois district holds out. The Germans seem to be making the strongest effort there with troops from eastern Belgium and Luxemburg who are not so fatigued as General Von Kluck's troops, composing the German right wing. The French are holding their positions sufficiently well to allow the successes their left is obtaining to be driven home.

The official communique says: "On our left wing all the attempts of the Germans to break our formations of those of our troops on the right bank of the Ourcq were unsuccessful. The English army has crossed the Marne. The enemy has retreated about forty capitulation. The 40,000 prisoners reported captured probably include French and English troops, as Maubeuge was occupied by both French and English during the retreat of the allied armies from Belgium. The chief result of the capture of Maubeuge, according to military experts, will be the release of the besieging force for operations nearer Paris.

Two German merchant ships have been sunk in the Atlantic by the French cruisers Conde and Descartes, aided by the British cruiser Bristol.

Russian troops have signally defeated the Austrians at Rawa, thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg. Russia is now concentrating 3,500,000 troops for the invasion of German Poland.

Pressure for funds to carry on the war has forced Germany to call on the Imperial bank to float a loan of $250,000,000. The money will be obtained by the sale of five per cent treasury bonds and government notes.

SECOND ARMY SUFFERS ROUT

Russians Mass 2,000,000 Strong Along the East Prussian Border With the Intention of Resuming the German Invasion—Internal Troubles Threatening the Dual Monarchy—Progress of Russian Campaign.

Rome, Sept. 10.—Attempting to evade the Russian double advance, the Austrians have evacuated Russian Poland, following the rout of another army at Rawa, thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg, Galicia, according to advices from St. Petersburg.

Complete victory is claimed by the Russian war office in the fighting that has been raging north of Lemberg and it is reported that a large number of Germans were among the troops captured.

With the menace from the south removed from their advance, the Russians have massed, 2,000,000 strong, along the East Prussian frontier, with the evident intention of resuming the German invasion.

News from Austria indicates that the dual monarchy is in grave danger of internal troubles, while her military situation is daily becoming worse.

Even Berlin seems to have lost something of its prevailing optimism. It confesses to the turning of anxious eyes in the direction of the ally in Galicia. During the first few weeks of war Germany and Austria virtually dictated the direction of the campaign along the Russian border, because of the inadequacy of Russian railroad and other transport. But this situation has been radically changed by the Russian successes in Galicia.

One of the most significant features of the Austrian misfortunes is the growing uneasiness in Rumania and other Balkan states. Montenegro and Serbia already are engaged against Austria and have taken the offensive. Rumania also is hungry for territory and is said to be ready at any moment to throw her 200,000 veteran troops against Austria.

BATTLE RAGED MANY HOURS

Paris, Sept. 10.—The battle at Senlis, thirty miles north of Paris, raged from morning to the afternoon. The town was occupied by a British force, supported by French light cavalry and African troops. They held their ground until noon. At that time Germans poured in from all the villages nearby, converging on Senlis, which had to submit to a rather heavy bombardment. Several monuments and buildings including the cathedral were damaged.

The first Uhlans appeared about one o'clock, coming from the direction of Crepy-en-Valois and Renteuil. The allies then retired in good order after destroying the stores. The Germans entered the town an hour later. According to their custom they entered the houses and drove out the residents, forcing them to march before them. Chantilly, according to this account, was saved from destruction by the devotion of the mayor of the town.

THE POPE TO APPEAL FOR PEACE

Hopes Encyclical Will Lead to An Armistice.

Rome, Sept. 10.—The forthcoming papal encyclical, the issue of which has been purposely delayed until the result of a decisive battle has been announced, will contain an appeal for peace.

Pope Benedict has approached Austria and Germany through their envoys here, and both informed the pontiff that they are favorably disposed to second his efforts for peace. The czar is understood to be prepared to submit the pope's offer to the deferential consideration of England and France. Pope Benedict hopes that his appeal may lead to an armistice which would be a prelude of peace.

SMOKE SIGNAL BETRAY ENEMY

Copenhagen, Sept. 10.—According to private dispatches received here, the Austrian headquarters staff attributes the defeat of the Austrian armies to the Slav spy system, which has been brought to a fine art. The Austrian staff asserts it can prove that the movements of the army around Lemberg were divulged to the Russians by means of smoke signals from house tops. It has been the practice, the Austrians believe, for the people of Galicia to send up different colored smoke through their chimneys when the movements of the Austrian army became known in the towns and villages. Thus a certain kind of coal would give a black smoke. Wood was burned to give white smoke. The method would probably never have been even guessed at were it not that a spy was caught and confessed before being shot.

TROOPS CAPTURE BOMB DROPPERS

Paris, Sept. 10.—Among the prisoners taken by the French at Cholet were two lieutenants of the German aviation corps, who recently bombarded Paris. The observation officer has been identified as a former accountant in a silk firm at Paris which he left on the eve of mobilization.

The men were arrested at Orry-la-Ville in the department of Oise.

A radiogram from Berlin to the German embassy here explains in addition to other matters the situation with regard to the relations of Spain toward the warring nations. It said: "The Spanish ambassador at Berlin strongly denies the rumors of Spain's unfriendly attitude against Germany and Austria. Clog Almanacs. In early times in England the people used what were called clog almanacs which remained in use till the beginning of the eighteenth century. An old writer thus describes them: "This almanac is usually a square piece of wood containing three months on each of the four edges. The number of days in them are expressed by notches, the first day by a notch with a putulous stroke turned up from it and every seventh by a large sized notch. Over against many of the notches are placed on the left hand several marks or symbols denoting the golden number or cycle of the moon. The festivals are marked by symbols of the several saints issuing from the notches."

Will Germany Sue for Peace?

Rumors are persistent that Germany has signified a willingness to receive and seriously consider proposals looking to the restoration of permanent peace in distracted Europe.

Confirmation of these rumors from an authoritative source are entirely lacking, but, nevertheless, the rumors that Germany is ready to make peace circulate with that persistency which leads to the hope that there may be some real foundation for them after all.

The people of all lands in the nations now at war and in the nations enjoying peace, sincerely hope that the rumors may prove to be well founded and that before the snow flies Europe will be at peace, the nations thereof engaged in the pleasurable and profitable pursuits of life and the great commerce of the world once more restored.

Later developments of the war, according to news reports, seem to be not so favorable to the German armies and indicate that the final defeat of the Kaiser's grand army by the hosts of the allies is not so distant as many believed.

The greater number of disinterested critics have insisted that sooner or later Germany would meet defeat on the battlefields of Europe. Indeed few were prepared at the outset of the war, to believe that the successes of the German armies would be so pronounced and so continuous as they have been.

The phenomenal success of the German army—the practically unbroken line of victories won—has been due to a great extent, strange to say, that adoption of the column attack.

That plan of battle was adopted by Napoleon and by resort to that plan he was able to conquer the combined armies of Europe. Until the coming of Napoleon into the arena of war the plan of battle—both attack and defense was the line formation. Napoleon revived the plan of attacking by columns and was marvelously successful until on the field of Waterloo, his columns were hurled to defeat and annihilation against “the bristling squares of Wellington”.

It was on the field of Waterloo that the infantry line plan of battle adopted by the allies, under Wellington and Blucher, was again revived and proved its superiority over the column attack plan of Napoleon, and that plan of warfare has been the favorite one in Europe ever since that time.

Among experts the plan of attack by columns has been regarded as obsolete and entirely useless against the heavy artillery and machine gun fire, possible with the improved equipment of the present day and capable of deadly concentration.

It was a surprise therefore, to the allies and to the military experts of the world to see Germany revive the Napoleonic plan of battle and hurl her gigantic columns of infantry in column formation, directly at one point in the line of defense. The cost was frightful, but the result has proven satisfactory. The places of the thousands of Germans mowed down by the deadly fire were taken by other onrushing thousands with such rapidity that no diminution in the attacking column was noticeable.

Plans of warfare which proved effective at Waterloo have been ineffective in the present war and all expert theory to the contrary the lines of the allies have been beaten back and back from the frontiers of France, to the very gates of Paris by the irresistible charges of the Kaiser's columns.

There is no denying the fact that Germany has suffered staggering loss thus far in the war, that the victories which have come to her armies have been costly in life and treasure almost beyond human comprehension, and it need not surprise the world to learn as a fact, that victorious Germany is ready to sue for peace.

War Will Not Last Long Because Destruction Will Be Too Great

By Mrs. JESSIE HARDY STUBBS, Suffragist

THE women of Europe could settle this disagreement if the men would only allow them. I'd guarantee that WITHIN A FEW WEEKS THE WHOLE MATTER WOULD BE STRAIGHTENED OUT IF THE WOMEN HAD THEIR WAY. This war will be a frightful tragedy. Terrors and horrors are always associated with wars, but in this case the result will be far more terrible.

JUST THINK OF THE POWERFUL MACHINERY OF DESTRUCTION WHICH IS EMPLOYED! JUST THINK OF THE TERRIBLE HAVOC THIS MACHINERY CAN CAUSE! THE WOMEN, CHILDREN AND OLD MEN LEFT AT HOME TO TAKE CARE OF THE LITTLE FARMS WILL SUFFER. OF COURSE THE SOLDIERS THEMSELVES WILL SUFFER, BUT THIS IS, IN MY OPINION, NOT QUITE AS BAD AS THE FEARS OF THE GRIEF STRICKEN ONES AT HOME. THIS WAR WILL NOT LAST LONG BECAUSE THE DESTRUCTION WILL BE TOO GREAT.

Poetry For Today

HOHENLINDEN.
On Linden, when the sun was low,
All bloodless lay the untrodden snow,
And dark as winter was the flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

But Linden saw another sight,
When the drum beat at dead of night,
Commanding fires of death to light
The darkness of her scenery.

By torch and trumpet fast arrayed,
Each horseman drew his battle blade,
And, furious, every charger neighed,
To join the dreadful revelry.

Then shook the hills with thunder riven,
Then rushed the steeds to battle driven,
And louder than the bolts of heaven
Far flashed the red artillery.

But redder yet that light shall glow
On Linden's hills of stained snow,
And bloodier yet the torrent flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

'Tis morn; but scarce yon level sun
Can pierce the war clouds, rolling dun,
Where furious Frank and fiery Hun
Shout in their sulphurous canopy.

The combat deepens. On, ye brave,
Who rush to glory, or the grave!
Wave, Munich, all thy banners wave,
And charge with all thy chivalry!

Few, few shall part where many meet
The snow shall be their winding sheet,
And every turf beneath their feet
Shall be a soldier's sepulcher.

The Duke and the Artist.
In "Random Recollections" is this story of the Duke of Connaught. The incident happened at Windsor castle. The duke was criticising a water color done by R. Caton Woodville, representing a drummer in the guards:
"Look here, Mr. Woodville," he said, "you have made a mistake in the mounting of the braiding on this drummer's coat; the fringe on the side of the chest ought to run in this direction," indicating the line. "I am certain of it, for as a boy I wore the uniform, but I will show you what I mean," and, turning to his A. D. C., he asked him to have the bugler of the castle guard sent up. The bugler came, and the duke, turning toward him, said, "Now, Mr. Woodville, I will show you what I mean." And then, as he looked critically at the boy's uniform, he exclaimed, "By Jove, Mr. Woodville, you are right, after all!"

Justifying His Expense.
Managers who have to pass on expense accounts will appreciate David Gibson's story about a Chicago salesman who paid $8 excess fare to reach New York on a fast train.
"What time did you arrive in New York?" asked the employer.
"Nine-forty in the morning."
"What did you do when you got in?"
"Went up to the hotel, took a bath and ate breakfast."
"What time did you see your man?" asked the conservator.
"About 3 in the afternoon," said the salesman.
"Yes, but why have you got $8 charged up for excess fare on the limited when you could just as well have taken a regular train?"
"Well," said the salesman, "it looked better to be on that train."—New York World.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Showing Present Beautiful Edifice and New Parsonage.

The history of Methodism in Fayette County dates from 1811. In that year the town of Washington Court House was laid out, and the first Quarterly Meeting held at the residence of Joel Wood, twelve miles to the north. A class was organized in 1813 with Jesse Rowe as leader.

In 1817 the local society erected its first house of worship. This was soon replaced by a rude brick building, further enlarged in 1843.

With added years came a growing membership, and in 1866-67 the third church building was erected. This answered the needs of the organization until 1896, when the people, under the able leadership of the pastor, the Rev. Franklin McElfresh, D. D., built the present modern and commodious house of worship. Extensive improvements upon the property have just been completed, the interior has been decorated and the equipment throughout made more adequate.

For the fourth time the Ohio Annual Conference convenes in Washington Court House. The first session was in 1871, when Bishop James presided. Again in 1883, and in 1897, the Conference met here, the presiding Bishops being Thomas Bowman and Earl Cranston, respectively.

DESERT SIGNPOSTS.

Rude Rock Heaps by Which Indians Located Running Water.

In traveling over the plains of western Texas, writes a contributor, I have now and then come on two little isolated heaps of rock that at first glance seemed not at all remarkable. After a time, I noticed that one heap was generally about three feet high, and the other about a foot lower. The two were always within a few feet of each other, and usually on an elevation or plateau that had a view of the country for five miles or more.

The rocks were roughly heaped together, as if left by children at play. I sometimes wondered if they could be the ruins of an ancient stone building; but that was improbable, for there was scarcely another stone in sight.

Years later I learned the actual significance of these rock heaps from an old Indian whose mind was stored with all the legends and customs and deeds of his people. According to him, when the Great Spirit lapped up the mighty rivers of the plains, he left springs and water basins here and there for the antelope and the Indian. These the antelope easily found by scent, but the Indian had to search long and anxiously for them. Once found, they were seldom lost—thanks to these rude rock heaps.

I watched the old fellow crouch down behind the taller heap, sight over the low one, and mark the farthest object in a straight line, which in this case was a clump of bushes on the horizon. We rode toward these bushes and found—not water, as I had expected, but two other heaps of rocks. Sighting as before, and taking a rock faced cliff toward the southwest as a goal, we rode two miles farther, and there, trickling out from beneath the cliff's rocky brow, was a spring of fresh, clear water.

The old Indian said that whenever a band of Indians came upon a new spring, they built these rock heaps along their trail; since then I have followed some half dozen of these rude signposts, and found them to lead either to water, or to places that showed traces of a former watercourse.—Youth's Companion.

"A dog like Blank's dog?"
"Yes."

Typhoid and Coconut Milk.
An English writer tells of a colored woman in Trinidad who was dying, beyond all hope, of typhoid, and pleaded to be allowed to drink of coconut juice. She was beyond the reach of good or harm, so she had her cocoanuts and drank the juice, not of one but of eight in succession—perhaps a gallon of liquid, and the orgie indisputably saved her life.

Hearing Heart Beats.
If you hear your heart beat in one ear, as many persons do, it is no proof of anything wrong with the heart. It is much more likely to be a local defect such as chronic catarrh of the middle ear or stiffness and retraction of the drum. This on the authority of Dr. Robert H. Babcock of Chicago.

HUMAN SOLDIER.

The Reason Blood From a Cut Clots and Plugs the Wound.

Why is it that the boy who cuts his finger with a jackknife making a willow whistle does not bleed to death? As a matter of fact, he may if he is what the medical profession call a "bleeder," a condition of things by no means rare and one which every surgeon who undertakes to do even the most minor operation must inform himself about. The bleeder or hemophilic, as the doctor calls him, is always in immediate danger of just this kind of accident because his blood is lacking in the clotting principle known as fibrinogen.

This principle is a gift from good Mother Nature, or a kind Providence, if you choose, and exists for no other purpose than the saving of human life. When a wound deep enough to injure a vein or artery is made through the skin the blood pours out in considerable quantity, but in a few minutes the current lessens and a congealing mass begins to appear. This means that the fibrin is catching the blood corpuscles and holding them fast like fish caught in a net. The semisolid clot thus formed is the soldier which a plumber fuses upon a leaking pipe.

To be sure, this is not a perfect mechanism, for if bleeding is coming from a fair sized artery the blood will spurt out into space, and no clot can form since it is too quickly washed away. Here, however, by another conservative process the blood pressure is reduced, as a result of which the artery begins to contract owing to the elasticity of its walls and to influence of the nervous system, and in this way the hemorrhage will finally cease.

The clot left in the wound soon begins to contract. Water (serum) is forced out, and the remaining substances hold the wound firmly as if in a splint. Then come the blood corpuscles, bringing the materials necessary for reconstruction of the "blood pipe," and in a few days new tissue, penetrated by fine hairlike blood vessels, which can be seen only by a high power microscope, begins to form. In a relatively short time only a thin "scar" remains.—New York World.

ANOTHER HORSE STOLEN POLICE TAKE UP SEARCH

Kirby Henderson Suspected of Being Connected With the Trick, as Animal Was Removed From Henderson's Barn During Night—Young Man Recently Released From Reformatory After Term for Stealing Horse.

The second horse to be stolen in this county within the past two weeks was removed from the James Henderson stable in this city some time Wednesday night, and the thief immediately took steps to put all the distance he could between himself and the police before the discovery was made Thursday morning.

The animal belonged to Henry Green, of Hillsboro, who drove to this city Wednesday, and remained at the home of James Henderson over night.

Henderson, who had learned that his son, Kirby, who has a mania for stealing horses, was in the city, removed his own horse from the barn, and when the Hillsboro man arrived the visitor's horse was placed in the Henderson barn.

Thursday morning it was found that the barn had been entered and that the horse was missing. An examination disclosed that a buggy had been obtained from some unknown source, and the horse attached to the rig and driven away.

Suspicion immediately fell upon Kirby Henderson, the young man who was released from the Mansfield Reformatory a short time ago after serving a term for stealing his father's horse in this city a year or two ago. A search for the young man failed to reveal his whereabouts, and the police were appealed to for assistance in ferreting out the thief and arresting him.

The authorities set about spreading the net to apprehend the thief and missing horse, and hope for definite results within the next 48 hours.

The missing animal is not of very great value. It is a bay horse, weighing about 850 to 900 pounds, is blind in left eye, and has a white left hind foot.

FAYETTE DIVORCE RATE EXCESSIVE

Interesting Statistics Compiled by State Show That Fayette is in Front Rank in Call for Divorces, While Pike County is the Paradise for Married Couples, Only Five Divorces Being Granted During Past Year.

Compared with figures compiled from every county in the state, Fayette has been having more divorce suits to the number of marriages than most of the other counties in the state, the ratio here being more than one divorce suit to every four marriages.

There were 6,712 divorces granted in Ohio within a year, and a total of 49,568 marriages, according to figures compiled by the secretary of state's office for the fiscal year ending July 1. This will approximate about one divorce out of every seven marriages in the state. The number of divorces refused was 2,233.

The total divorce suits brought in Ohio during the fiscal year was 9,516, and these, with 6,086 cases pending, make the total number of divorce actions before courts 15,602. This leaves 6,657 divorce cases now pending.

The secretary of state's figures show that Pike county is the matrimonial paradise, as only five divorces were granted in the year. This county reported 115 marriages. Carroll county is also a "happy family" county, as only seven marriages were dissolved by the divorce method. The number of marriages in Carroll county is given as 111.

Franklin county has 2,719 marriages and 645 divorces; Lucas county, 2,081 marriages and 464 divorces, and Montgomery county 1,937 marriages and 415 divorces. Hamilton county had 4,520 marriages. The secretary of state has been unable to secure complete figures for Hamilton and Cuyahoga counties.

The statistics show that in the larger counties approximately one of every four or five marriages ends in the divorce courts.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES ATTEND FUNERAL

Wednesday afternoon Carolyn M. Kingsbury, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kingsbury, was laid to rest in the Washington cemetery, while a flood of golden autumn sunshine shed symbolical benediction.

At the residence at two o'clock, Rev. W. B. Gage, assisted by Rev. P. J. Henness, conducted a service of much beauty, in full accord with the last wishes of the deceased.

Long before the hour, the residence was crowded and many friends unable to gain entrance, remained in the yard in farewell tribute and sympathy with the devoted parents and brother.

The F. L. Stutson store was closed and the clerks attended in a body.

Rev. Gage read the hymn, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow," and Mr. M. E. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school, of which Carrie had been a devoted member, read Tennyson's beautiful poem, "Crossing the Bar."

The minister had been with the brave girl often during her weeks of suffering and his remarks were both sympathetic and beautiful. He spoke of the services as the fulfillment of her wishes, following the peaceful response, void of all dread, of the immortal summons. Physically weak, she was strong in faith, and there unfolded before her eyes the panorama of God's own glory.

The pastor referred to the days of childhood and young womanhood, the brightness and attractive ways which had endeared her to her friends, but not as much as the patient, hopeful spirit of her days of pain.

Most heartsome were the words of comfort offered to the sorrowing parents and brother, the closing words, "Let our presence proclaim our sympathy and may you find much consolation in the memory of her life and of God's promises."

Twenty-two girls of Carrie's Sunday school class, the M. H. G., with the teacher, Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, bore out the flowers and formed an aisle from the steps. It was a touching sight as the flower heaped casket, with the pall-bearers all in white, was carried down the lane of flowers

CHURCH OF CHRIST BEING REMODELED

The Church of Christ in Christian union, situated on Rawling street, is undergoing complete repair and when finished within a short time will present a very tasty appearance. In addition to the extensive repairs a commodious entrance has been erected, surmounted by a neat belfry extending several feet above the church and housing a fine, large, new bell. Plans for the improvement were laid some little time before the death of the late John Lininger, who was actively interested in the church, and as a memorial his estate purchased and erected the bell in accordance with his request.

The church will be ready for occupancy within a few days. Officials and members are highly pleased with their improvements and look forward to continued substantial growth of the organization.

NEW LAURELS ADDED TO IMPERIAL STAFF'S LIST

After a most delightful outing, and with new laurels added to their already large list, members of the Imperial Degree Staff returned to this city Thursday morning, coming from Toledo to Dayton by special train, and their cars were then attached to regular morning train on the C. H. & D.

All arrived in good health, although very much wearied by the work of Wednesday night, and the constant travel since leaving this city.

After reaching Buffalo Monday morning, the party went to Niagara Falls and remained there until the next day, enjoying themselves to the limit, taking the gorge ride, and many even viewing the mysterious "burning spring", although it is said that some protested vigorously against the exhibition.

Upon arriving in Detroit, after a pleasant night trip from Buffalo Tuesday night, the party boarded a train for Toledo, arriving there Wednesday morning after ten o'clock, and the staff property men took up the work of preparing for the night work.

A crowd said to number fully 3000 Odd Fellows witnessed the conferring of first degree upon a large class of candidates, and praised the staff for the beautiful work. All were delighted with the work of Imperial Staff, and did not hesitate to say so.

The work moved smoothly with the exception of an accident which befell Capt. Rell G. Allen, of the guards. He sustained a fall at one of the flights of steps off the stage, but soon recovered sufficiently to proceed with the work.

Following the work the property was packed and the staff and those who accompanied them, boarded the special train for home.

A member of the light fingered gentry relieved one man of his purse, $25 and some valuable papers while in Toledo.

The metal clung to the flesh and penetrated deeply. Physicians removed most of the metal and dressed the wounds. The injuries have caused Wolfe a great deal of suffering.

The following official notice of the meeting has been issued:

The Million Dollar Mystery Wednesday

In Social Circles

It is safe to prophecy that in the procession of autumn nuptial events there will be no more ideal home wedding, marked by greater beauty of appointment than the one solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fremont Bonham Wednesday night at eight o'clock, when the youngest daughter, Nina Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Curtis Browne, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Browne, of Cincinnati.

The bride is one of the most attractive girls of the younger set, an extremely pretty and vivacious brunette, whose talent as a reader, has frequently given pleasure to Washington audiences.

The bridegroom also is quite young, an affable, manly fellow, who is successfully established with his father in the management of the Browne hotel in Cincinnati.

It was pure and simple a wedding of young people, with the fifty guests, aside from close relatives, confined to the young friends of the bride and bridegroom. The Buck florists had decorated the home exquisitely, roses, asters and greenery employed in a rose and white color scheme.

Snowy linen covered the floors and in one corner of the living room was a wonderfully beautiful bridal altar built up against a background of white, covered with garlands of smilax and fern. The altar was in the form of an arch of white, twined with smilax, caught by gauze bows and overhead hung garlands of smilax and pink rose buds. Numerous pink candles lighted the altar and on either side rose immense wicker flower vases of white and gold, filled with shaded pink and white asters.

Adding to the beauty of the marriage ceremony was the musical program which preceded it. Miss Helen Jones, a brilliant pianist, and Mr. James Kneisley, Washington's talented violinist, played "At Sunset" and "Tramurai", before Miss Regina McDonald sang, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in her lovely, resonant soprano.

The chords of the Lohengrin wedding march then summoned the young couple, who were preceded by the officiating minister, Rev. W. B. Gage.

With no attendants, and the softly lighted bridal altar, a perfect setting, the wedding vows were spoken. Rev. Gage's ring ceremony both beautiful and impressive.

The bride was a picture of girlish beauty in her wedding robes. Her gown was of white crepe meteor and chiffon cloth, the crepe meteor, forming an over tunic with square train falling gracefully from the shoulders to the floor; long sleeves and deep collar of Duchess lace. Fastened to her dark hair with a chaplet of swan-sonnia, was a long veil of Duchess lace effect, singularly becoming, and she carried an exquisite shower bouquet of bride's roses, swan-sonnia and maiden's hair fern.

After congratulations Caterer Easton served an elaborate wedding supper.

The bride and bridegroom, with their young friends were seated in the dining room, effectively decorated in rose color. The center embellishment of the bridal table was a superb round effect of pink roses and smilax.

Miss Nina Dahl found the ring, Miss Prudence Culhan the dime and Miss Emily Tanzey caught the bride's bouquet.

An array of handsome gifts were displayed upstairs.

The bridegroom's parents were in the reception line with Mr. and Mrs. Bonham and the bride's two sisters, Mrs. George Worrell and Mrs. Carl Mallow assisted in the reception hospitalities.

Mrs. Bonham was wearing heliotrope silk poplin, with relief of lace, and Mrs. Browne, Alice Blue silk tulle, with white lace.

Mrs. Worrell was lovely in white charmeuse and Mrs. Mallow fair and petite in her wedding gown.

The bride's going away gown was a smart tailored suit of plum color, with black velvet hat and shaded roses.

The young couple left on the 10:50 train for an eastern trip. They were given a great send off by the young guests.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bonham, Mr. Frank Bonham, Mr. Scott Bonham, Miss Ruby Alexander, of Cincinnati; Miss Mary Wright and Mr. Andrew Wright of Wooster.

Thirty automobiles containing 150 Kingstonians, arrived in this city last evening. Their purpose was to boost the Chautauqua to be held at Kingston beginning September 11th and lasting six days. The Kingston people are very enthusiastic and expect to make this the best and biggest event ever held in their town. A tent 70 by 110 feet is to be erected on the Methodist parsonage lot near the center of town. This tent will seat about 850 people.—Chillicothe Advertiser, Sept. 4.

An unusually large number of the members of the Ladies' Guild and also visitors enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Joseph Kimball and assisting hostesses at the fortnightly Kensington held at the spacious Kimball home Wednesday afternoon.

The affair was of delightful sociability, with victrola music adding pleasure, a delicious collation and fall roses used in decoration. Assisting Mrs. Kimball in entertaining were Mesdames W. B. Gage, Mary Rogers, Wm. Devaney and W. B. Snider.

A half dozen girls were indebted to Miss Lydia Vincent for a jolly slumber party and midnight feast last night.

Mrs. Clark McCoy hospitably entertained the Sugar Grove W. C. T. U. Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Howard Hicks delightfully entertained her Sunday school class of young men Wednesday evening.

Games, music and light refreshments were features of the evening.

Mr. Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Howard McLean assisted the hostess.

LECTURE COURSE MAY OPEN IN NOV.

If present plans of the Washington Lecture Course Committee do not fall the course will open sometime in November, with one of the strongest numbers of the series.

The Coit Lyceum Bureau desired to open early next month, but this was not satisfactory to the committee and negotiations are now under way to have the course open the following month. The Bureau was informed that rather than open the course prematurely, the committee would cancel the contract and purchase another course. It is expected that this will bring the Bureau to time.

The series purchased for the coming course is: The M. Kellerman Company; Bede-Seidel Debate; Mont-aville Wood; Laurant & Company and the Recital Artists.

THE METROPOLITAN GRAND QUARTETTE

Lovers of really good entertainment are now looking forward to the appearance at Grace church, Tuesday night of next week, of the renowned Metropolitan Grand Quartette, a strong musical organization which is not an unknown quantity in this county.

Many local citizens have heard this splendid quartette and expect to avail themselves of the opportunity to again hear them next week. The quartette was the opening number of the Jeffersonville lecture course last year, and was pronounced one of the best organizations ever offered on that course.

BIG TARANTULA IN BANANA BUNCH

While a clerk in the Barnett grocery was in the act of removing bananas from a huge bunch hanging in the store, Thursday morning, his attention was attracted by a slight noise in the bunch of bananas, and a moment later a huge tarantula appeared, ready to resent with his poisonous bite, the intrusion of his home.

By a little deft work the big spider was captured and imprisoned. It is now on exhibition at the store, and is attracting quite a little attention.

SENATOR STONE URGES CALMNESS

Americans Urged to Observe
Strict Neutrality.

SPEECH IMPRESSES SENATE

Deplores Partisan Expressions On the
Part of Citizens and the Attitude of
Certain Newspapers — Americans,
He Says, Should First Promote Interests and Welfare of Their Own Country.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Senator William J. Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, made a fervent appeal in the senate to the American people to observe the strictest neutrality in regard to the European war. The senator's speech made a profound impression on the senate.

"The effect of the appeal of the president became instantly manifest," said Senator Stone referring to President Wilson's admonition to the people to observe neutrality. "Undoubtedly that address has exercised a fine restraining influence on the conduct and even on the expression of a great body of the people. But as this stupendous conflict progresses from week to week it has become the one all absorbing subject of public thought and attention; and now, I regret to say, that we have everywhere increasing evidences that many of our people are being more divided in groups, and that these groups are becoming more and more sympathetic and outspoken partisans of the one side or the other; especially is this true of a large number of our most important daily papers.

"Every important country of Europe is represented here in the naturalized foreign-born population or in their immediate offspring. It is not only natural, but almost inevitable, that the sympathies of these people should be poured forth in strong currents upon their respective fatherlands. But I wish to admonish these, my fellow citizens, and to impress upon them a renewed realization of the supreme and all important fact that they are, above all, American citizens. I appeal to these American citizens first to serve and promote the interests, welfare and honor of our government and people."

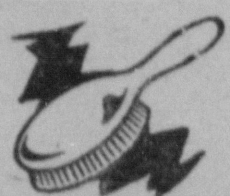

Senator Stone then referred to the attitude of some of the big newspapers and admonished them to avoid partisan expressions.

ROGER SULLIVAN LANDS THE PLUM

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Roger C. Sullivan, Democrat, Lawrence V. Sherman, Republican, and Raymond Robins, Progressive, were nominated for the United States senate. Returns show that Sullivan is leading his principal opponent, Lawrence B. Stricker, nearly three to one. Senator Sherman had for his principal opponent, former Senator William E. Mason. Robins was unopposed as the Progressive candidate. It is believed Uncle Joe Cannon has beaten Elmer Cooley for the Republican nomination for congressman from the Danville district.

ROADS MEN URGE LEVY

Columbus, O., Sept. 10.—Alleging that the proposed constitutional amendment to limit the maximum tax rate to ten mills, which will be voted on at the November election, if adopted, will preclude all further possibilities of additional tax levies for country road purposes—county construction, repair and maintenance or to meet state aid—the Ohio Good Roads Federation has sent out letters to all prosecuting attorneys and boards of county commissioners, advising them to submit at the November election a proposition to make an additional tax levy of two mills above the present maximum rate.

FAVOR PACT WITH "KING OF KINGS"

Washington, Sept. 10.—A German war loan of one milliard marks ($238,000,000) treasury bills and an unlimited state loan has been announced at Berlin, according to a dispatch received at the German embassy here. The loan bears five per cent interest and was given out at 97.5.

COUNTRY PRODUCTS SOARING

American Packers Control Argentine Output of Meat.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Average prices of practically all important agricultural products on September 1 showed increases over quotations of one year ago, according to the department of agriculture's general review. Cotton was the marked exception, falling nearly three cents a pound. Nearly all the grains showed big increases, while average prices of meat animals on August 15 were $7.63 per hundredweight, compared with $7.29 a year ago and $6.56 in 1912. Butter and potatoes show slight decreases.

According to testimony before Marquette McAdoo in New York, beef packers of the United States are now in absolute control of the Argentine output of beef, thus destroying the value of Argentine beef as a competitive check on the prices of native beef.

ST. GAUDENS' GOLD COINS.

This Country Did Not Appreciate Their Art, Says a Critic.

All the arts but one, says Layton Crippon in his book, "Clay and Fire," show degradation today, in many cases degradation so great that they have virtually ceased to exist. We have not only forgotten how to make beautiful things, but we have even acquired an instinctive dislike of beautiful things. They seem to have become offensive to us.

"There was recently one curious little instance to which I am tempted to refer showing as it did that in our present stage of degradation beauty is not only ignored, but has actually become offensive, causes instinctive dislike. The St. Gaudens ten and five dollar gold pieces were undoubtedly the noblest coins produced in any country in 200 years." Within a couple of months the American public had howled them out of circulation.

"The explanation was afterward made that the coins were disliked because the relief was inconveniently high, but a reference to the files of the New York or Chicago papers will convince anybody that the original outcry was against the design and only the design of these exquisite examples of die cutting. But America has no monopoly of this instinctive hatred of beauty. It is exemplified in the vandalism that is now common all over Europe, the destruction of ancient and glorious buildings, usually without valid excuse."

OXYGEN GAS.

The Value of Rev. Joseph Priestley's Momentous Discovery.

Oxygen was discovered in the year 1774. Joseph Priestley, a dissenting English clergyman who had turned scientist, obtained the hitherto unknown gas by igniting mercuric oxide. The oxygen he thus produced he called "dephlogisticated air."

He and Benjamin Franklin had often discussed the mysterious composition of air and water. No one up to that time had determined what element it was in both which so invigorated the physical energies of man. It is said that Priestley made his actual discovery of the oxygen while experimenting in a brewery near his home in England. He spent the last ten years of his life in the United States, a voluntary exile.

Today a monument stands in England to commemorate Priestley's discovery. Were he alive, he could read of thousands of lives saved by his work. Oxygen is the only gas capable of supporting respiration, and is repeatedly used in the sick chamber to pull a patient through a crisis. Helms equipped with oxygen attachments enable the diver to go to ocean depths, the aviator to ascend into rarified air, the fireman to stand in dense smoke, and rescuers to descend into gas filled mines. So wide are its uses that some 4,000,000 cubic feet of this gas are bottled in the United States every year.—New York Post.

A DISH OF SNAILS.

They Have a Flavor Wholly Different From Any Other Food.

It is a mistake to think that snails are eaten only by the French. They have been known and used to a certain extent by the English ever since the days when snails boiled in milk were esteemed a remedy for consumption, and it has been said that a certain breed of snail now found in Surrey, England, was imported by one of the earls of Arundel for use of his falling wife.

One of the recipes for cooking snails is indicated by the verse of Edmund Spenser, which runs:

With our sharp weapons we shal thee fray.

And take the eels till that thou fleest in. We shal thee fray out of thy fowle skin. And in a dish, with onions and pepper, We shal thee dresse with strong vyne-gare.

If you have never eaten snails, and the majority of persons who will read this have not, it is difficult to comprehend what the snail tastes like. It is difficult, if not impossible, to describe a flavor or a scent without comparison to something already known by the person to whom one would transmit the information, and it is said by an authority on snails that they have an original kind of flavor, not in the least like anything else. To be at his best the snail should be young and in vigorous and robust health. If improperly cooked he will be tough; if properly cooked he will be tender.

Small culture in France is profitable. A single snail can produce sixty little snails in a season, but birds like them, frost kills them and some may run, or crawl, away. A French newspaper recently published the information that half a million "first quality" snails, the price of which averages about $1.40 per thousand, can be produced on an acre of land. It is necessary to feed them only once a day, but they have good appetites, especially after a rain, for cabbage and other green vegetables.—Washington Star.

A Good Start by Henry. They were discussing the announcements of new books. One said: "I understand that Henry James is at work on a new thing." "My information," said another, "is that he has already completed the greater part of the opening sentence."—New York Post.

LENGTHY CY FALKENBURG HAS SHOWN HIS OLD TIME FORM WITH FEDERALS

Indianapolis, September 10.—Cy Falkenburg, the elongated twirler who jumped the Cleveland team to join the local Federal league club, has been going well this year. With a record of eighteen games won and fifteen lost he has been in but thirty-six games, which means that only in a trio of struggles has he been lifted or called as a reserve. He has gone the route regularly and has more strikeouts to his credit than any other pitcher in the young league.

FALKENBURG

BLUFFING IN A DUEL.

"Labby" Put Up a Brave Front, Though He Was Badly Scared.

During his early diplomatic career while he was attached to the embassy in Stockholm Henry Labouchere fought a duel.

"There was a want of logic about the entire proceeding that went to my heart," he confessed later. "To be killed is bad enough, but to be killed paradoxically is worse. I never felt more dismal in my life."

Paradoxical the combat certainly was, since Labouchere had been the challenger, his ground of offense being that his antagonist, an Austrian officer, had presumed to criticize the British minister for having given social countenance to a fellow Briton who, disapproving of duels, had recently declined a challenge from conscientious scruples. The young diplomat, asserting with spirit that his chief had behaved properly and that Englishmen were not so silly as to fight duels, had left the rest to his seconds—and found himself pledged to fight the next morning with pistols at 7 o'clock. He had hoped for an apology, and admits he was dismayed; but he did not allow his feelings to be divided, and duly made his appearance upon the field of honor.

"The Austrian stood apart; I stood apart. The surgeon already eyed me as a 'subject.' The seconds consulted; then the Frenchman stepped out twelve paces. He had very short legs, and they seemed to be shorter than ever. After this came the loading of the pistols. Sometimes, I thought, seconds do not put in the bullets. That comforted me, but only for a moment, for the bullets were rammed down with cheerful energy. By this time we had been placed facing each other. A pistol was given to each of us. 'I am to give the signal,' said the Prussian. 'I shall count one, two, three, and then at the word fire you will both fire. Gentlemen, are you ready?' We both nodded. 'One, two, three, fire!' and both our pistols went off. No harm had been done."

He thought it was all over, when his opponent, stepping up, remarked that he supposed he ought to allow him a second shot, but, should nothing come of it, he would not consent to a third. Reluctantly on the part of both participants a second shot was fired, and they both missed—if indeed either had aimed—again. Then Labouchere boldly demanded a third shot.

"The seconds consulted together. For a moment I feared they were going to grant my request, and I was greatly relieved when they informed me they considered that two shots were amply sufficient. I was delighted, but I pretended to be most unhappy and kept up the farce of being an aggrieved person."

The whole affair was certainly farcical; but the fun depended upon the leading actors being both very bad marksmen.—Exchange.

It Is Indeed.

In these days of the high cost of living the following story is not without a decided point.

The teacher of a primary class was trying to show the children the difference between natural and man made wonders and was finding it hard.

"What," she asked, "do you think is the most wonderful thing a man ever made?"

A little girl, whose parents were obviously harassed by the question of ways and means, replied as solemnly as the proverbial judge:

"A living for his family."—Woman's Home Companion.

speaker claims the privilege from the crown through the lord chancellor at the opening of every parliament, the form of request being that the commons "may have access to his majesty's royal person whenever occasion shall require."

The title of speaker, as applied, somewhat to the bewilderment of the ordinary mortal, to the one member of the house of commons who never by any chance makes a speech, really marks his duty of representing his fellow members in this way in necessary interviews with the monarch. He is the speaker for them all.

In the case of members of the house of lords the privilege of audience is personal, as the peers are individually hereditary counselors of the crown. It need not be exercised through the lord chancellor, who, indeed, is not necessarily a member of the house of lords at all.—London Cor. New York Sun.

War of the Three Petticoats.

A slighting reference by Frederick the Great to Mme. Pompadour, who was the ruling power in France for a score of years in the days of Louis XV., was one of the chief causes of the Seven Years' war, called by a witty Frenchman the "war of the three petticoats" from the fact that Mme. Pompadour of France, Maria Theresa of Austria and Catherine II. of Russia were on the same side in it.

BRITISH STAND FIRM AND TURN TIDE

Germans and Austrians Suffer Defeat on All Sides and Are Forced Backward With Terrible Losses as British Trip-Hammer and Russian Steam Roller Continue to Advance.

BATTLE LINE 200 MILES IN LENGTH MAY SOON SWEEP GERMAN TERRITORY

Allies Continue to Drive Invaders Toward French Frontier—Germans Now Have Every Man in Field and Rush Troops to Left Wing—Austria, Suffering Defeat, is on Verge of Suing for Peace—Rapidity With Which Russians Advance Surprises Military Experts.

London, Sept. 10.—Premier Asquith today asked Parliament to add another half million men of all ranks to the regular army. This suggestion was approved. The recruiting was so successful that by September 9, 439,000 men have joined, making the total under arms only about 60,000 less than the 900,000 planned for. The second half million, asked for today, will bring the total army up to approximately 1,400,000 men.

Washington, September 10.—Great Britain is determined not to make peace until she has decisively defeated Germany. This sentiment has been conveyed to President Wilson in dispatches from Ambassador Page at London.

London, September 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Ghent says: "It is estimated that from 30,000 to 40,000 German soldiers have arrived at Brussels. This indicates that the German reserve is completely mobilized."

London, September 10.—The Official Press Bureau has given out the following statement: "The battle continued yesterday. The enemy has been driven back all along the line. Sir John French reports that our first corps has buried 200 German dead and taken 12 Maxim guns."

London, September 10.—Many English breakfasts were untasted this morning while the people read the graphic account by Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces on the continent, of the heroic fight made by the British expeditionary force to keep from being annihilated. Like a wildcat pursued by hounds the British forces backed stubbornly toward the river Oise, constantly showing its teeth but realizing that it must attain the river or perish.

General French's frank confession has fallen like a bomb-shell on the English public, who, up to the present time, have not been permitted to know how hard pressed their army has been.

On August 26th the British forces, according to their commander, faced the bulk and strength of four German army corps and were in danger of being surrounded and destroyed. The

AUSTRIA DISCOURAGED BY GERMANY'S FAILURE

Petrograd, September 10.—Austria may sue for peace as a result of the terrific defeat she has suffered in Galicia, according to semi-official reports in circulation here today. It is said that the Austro-Hungarian government is disgruntled over Germany's failure to send more troops into Galicia and threatened with internal troubles, will seek the best terms possible.

London, September 10.—A dispatch to the Reuter Agency from Petrograd says that the Austrians have begun evacuation of Cracow.

heroic stand of General Smith Dorrien, on the British left, undoubtedly saved the day.

On this day the British stood alone; even the French cavalry, on account of the exhaustion of their horses, being unable to cover the retreat. Great comfort is derived by the British public from this report, particularly from the indications that throughout these trials their troops never lost their morale.

The feeling of optimism which has prevailed in England during the last 24 hours has had only one check; this was the report of the wreck of the steamer, Oceanic.

Exultant messages from Petrograd and admissions of disasters from Vienna indicate that the long series of military misfortunes, marking the history of the dual monarchy, are about to be capped with an unparalleled debacle which may not only open the road to Berlin but bring Austria to suffer peace.

The armies in the west seemed as if pausing to watch the fateful drama in Galicia, the outcome of which may have a tremendous effect on the plans of the invaders in the western theater of war as well as upon the allies themselves in that region.

The news from Belgium indicates that the Germans are preparing for eventualities by rushing reinforcements southward. The first definite indication of this movement is given in a dispatch from Belgium which relates that the German force that has been waiting outside Ghent for the levy of provisions demanded from that city has left hurriedly in a southeasterly direction.

England has looked hopefully for the Russian "steam roller" to get under way but the impetus which the Russian army in the eastern theater of war already has acquired has surprised even the military experts. The movement of the Russian advance has been so speedy that the German divisions advancing on the Vistula are hardly likely to arrive in time to assist their sorely pressed ally in Galicia.

The Russian advance now occupies almost a straight line from Koenigsberg on the Baltic to Cracow. If Austria is disposed of, a tremendous battle line from 200 to 300 miles may sweep into the German empire.

That the enemy was driven back along the line yesterday is the news, cheering to British readers, that Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces, sent to England this afternoon from the battle line of the allies to the east of Paris. This statement of the British commander is driven home to Englishmen by the further announcement of the annexation by British troops of a dozen German Maxim guns and a battery of German field guns and it is further emphasized by official confirmation of the capture of numbers of German prisoners.

Field Marshal French's telegram shows that fighting of the fiercest character is in progress and his statement that the German forces are very exhausted confirms unofficial information from other quarters that the counter attack of the allies has been delivered with such speed and impetuosity that the invaders have been given no chance to recover from the effects of their rush from the north.

Paris, September 10.—The left end of the curved German battle line which, on September 7 extended in the segment of a wide circle from Meaux to Vitry-Le-Francois, about 100 miles to the east of Paris, was hit by the English trip hammer yesterday and forced to double back for a distance of approximately twenty miles.

This outcome of the fighting has aroused great satisfaction in Paris. It is argued that it probably has resulted in an equal degree of anxiety for the German general staff, concerning its line of communication.

In spite of the contained soberness of the French official communications on the progress of these engagements, it is evident that the actions of yesterday and the day before constituted one of the hottest battles of the war. Yesterday evening a large number of automobiles, loaded with stretchers, speeded out of Paris toward the east. This fact might suggest also that yesterday's action was one of the most costly advantages so far gained by the Allies.

The Germans seem to have realized that they have been led into a dangerous position, for they have brought up reinforcements for their left. In spite, however, of their desperate attacks, the English troops not only held the ground already gained, but forged ahead.

While the official reports fail to indicate the direction in which the Germans have retired it is believed here that they have withdrawn to the northeast in the direction of Epernay, a town about 70 miles from Paris.

The British troops, having crossed the river Marne, are now in a position to follow up their successes. They are menacing the Germans constantly with a turning movement. This is particularly true in that they have the support of the French forces, left on the banks of the river Ourcq, who are ready to deal with any German reinforcements that may be brought into action.

ALLIES SORELY PRESSING GERMANS

Washington, September 10.—The French Embassy today received the following dispatch from Bordeaux, bearing yesterday's date: "The right wing of the Germans has been withdrawn north of the Petit Morin, though fighting on the eighth, and has been sharply attacked on the right bank of the Ourcq. Our troops are making progress at Sezanne. A sharp fight is taking place in our center with alternation of progress and recession. The situation continues to be favorable at Nancy and in the Vosges, on the right wing."

"THE GERMANS ARE MARCHING SOUTH TOWARDS POLAND TO ASSIST THE AUSTRIANS BUT BEFORE THIS AID CAN BE GIVEN THEY MUST CROSS THE VISTULA RIVER, WHERE THE RUSSIANS ARE PREPARING TO CHECK THEM."

Washington, Sept. 10.—Democrats of the Ways and Means committee today completed the War Revenue Tax Bill providing for a tax of three per cent on all freight transportation, an increase of 50 cents on beer and 20 cents a gallon on all domestic wines. This will net an estimated revenue of $107,000,000 a year. The tax of freight was agreed to after a conference with the President, who had expressed opposition to it.

Berlin Claims German Forces Captured 40,000 Prisoners, Including French and English Troops—Four Generals and 400 Guns Also Seized. Russians Signally Defeat Austrians Thirty Miles Northwest of Lemberg—Germany Floats Loan.

Paris, Sept. 10.—Everything points to the belief that the French are gaining real successes which will be decisive if the center in the Vitry-le-Francois district holds out. The Germans seem to be making the strongest effort there with troops from eastern Belgium and Luxembourg who are not so fatigued as General Von Kluck's troops, composing the German right wing. The French are holding their positions sufficiently well to allow the successes their left is obtaining to be driven home.

The official communique says: "On our left wing all the attempts of the Germans to break our formations of those of our troops on the right bank of the Ourcq were unsuccessful. The English army has crossed the Marne. The enemy has retreated about forty capitulation. The 40,000 prisoners reported captured probably include French and English troops, as Maubeuge was occupied by both French and English during the retreat of the allied armies from Belgium. The chief result of the capture of Maubeuge, according to military experts, will be the release of the besieging force for operations nearer Paris.

Two German merchant ships have been sunk in the Atlantic by the French cruisers Conde and Descartes, aided by the British cruiser Bristol.

Russian troops have signally defeated the Austrians at Rawa, thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg. Russia is now concentrating 3,500,000 troops for the invasion of German Poland.

Pressure for funds to carry on the war has forced Germany to call on the Imperial bank to float a loan of $250,000,000. The money will be obtained by the sale of five per cent treasury bonds and government notes.

SECOND ARMY SUFFERS ROUT

Russians Mass 2,000,000 Strong Along the East Prussian Border With the Intention of Resuming the German Invasion—Internal Troubles Threatening the Dual Monarchy—Progress of Russian Campaign.

Rome, Sept. 10.—Attempting to evade the Russian double advance, the Austrians have evacuated Russian Poland, following the rout of another army at Rawa, thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg, Galicia, according to advices from St. Petersburg.

Complete victory is claimed by the Russian war office in the fighting that has been raging north of Lemberg and it is reported that a large number of Germans were among the troops captured.

With the menace from the south removed from their advance, the Russians have massed, 2,000,000 strong, along the East Prussian frontier, with the evident intention of resuming the German invasion.

News from Austria indicates that the dual monarchy is in grave danger of internal troubles, while her military situation is daily becoming worse.

Even Berlin seems to have lost something of its prevailing optimism. It confesses to the turning of anxious eyes in the direction of the ally in Galicia. During the first few weeks of war Germany and Austria virtually dictated the direction of the campaign along the Russian border, because of the inadequacy of Russian railroad and other transport. But this situation has been radically changed by the Russian successes in Galicia.

One of the most significant features of the Austrian misfortunes is the growing uneasiness in Rumania and other Balkan states. Montenegro and Serbia already are engaged against Austria and have taken the offensive. Rumania also is hungry for territory and is said to be ready at any moment to throw her 200,000 veteran troops against Austria.

BATTLE RAGED MANY HOURS

Paris, Sept. 10.—The battle at Senlis, thirty miles north of Paris, raged from morning to the afternoon. The town was occupied by a British force, supported by French light cavalry and African troops. They held their ground until noon. At that time Germans poured in from all the villages nearby, converging on Senlis, which had to submit to a rather heavy bombardment. Several monuments and buildings including the cathedral were damaged.

The first Uhlans appeared about one o'clock, coming from the direction of Crepy-en-Valois and Renteuil. The allies then retired in good order after destroying the stores. The Germans entered the town an hour later. According to their custom they entered the houses and drove out the residents, forcing them to march before them. Chantilly, according to this account, was saved from destruction by the devotion of the mayor of the town.

THE POPE TO APPEAL FOR PEACE

Hopes Encyclical Will Lead to An Armistice.

Rome, Sept. 10.—The forthcoming papal encyclical, the issue of which has been purposely delayed until the result of a decisive battle has been announced, will contain an appeal for peace.

Pope Benedict has approached Austria and Germany through their envoys here, and both informed the pontiff that they are favorably disposed to second his efforts for peace. The czar is understood to be prepared to submit the pope's offer to the deferential consideration of England and France. Pope Benedict hopes that his appeal may lead to an armistice which would be a prelude of peace.

SMOKE SIGNAL BETRAY ENEMY

Copenhagen, Sept. 10.—According to private dispatches received here, the Austrian headquarters staff attributes the defeat of the Austrian armies to the Slav spy system, which has been brought to a fine art. The Austrian staff asserts it can prove that the movements of the army around Lemberg were divulged to the Russians by means of smoke signals from house tops. It has been the practice, the Austrians believe, for the people of Galicia to send up different colored smoke through their chimneys when the movements of the Austrian army became known in the towns and villages. Thus a certain kind of coal would give a black smoke. Wood was burned to give white smoke. The method would probably never have been even guessed at were it not that a spy was caught and confessed before being shot.

TROOPS CAPTURE BOMB DROPPERS

Paris, Sept. 10.—Among the prisoners taken by the French at Cholet were two lieutenants of the German aviation corps, who recently bombarded Paris. The pilot was a prominent aviator before the war and holds several records. The observation officer has been identified as a former accountant in a silk firm at Paris which he left on the eve of mobilization.

The men were arrested at Orry-la-Ville in the department of Oise.

Paris, Sept. 10.—Sudden panic seized Paris and many persons who had announced their intention of remaining here fled. This feeling of panic was increased when Myron T. A radiogram from Berlin to the German embassy here explains in addition to other matters the situation with regard to the relations of Spain toward the warring nations. It said: "The Spanish ambassador at Berlin strongly denies the rumors of Spain's unfriendly attitude against Germany and Austria. All the Spanish party leaders are for a strictly neutral position on the part of their government."

In another dispatch there was this reference to Maubeuge: "All German papers emphasize the importance of the capture of Maubeuge."

Clog Almanacs.

In early times in England the people used what were called clog almanacs, which remained in use till the beginning of the eighteenth century. An old writer thus describes them:

"This almanac is usually a square piece of wood containing three months on each of the four edges. The number of days in them are expressed by notches, the first day by a notch with a putulous stroke turned up from it and every seventh by a large sized notch. Over against many of the notches are placed on the left hand several marks or symbols denoting the golden number or cycle of the moon. The festivals are marked by symbols of the several saints issuing from the notches."

Poetry For Today

HOHENLINDEN.
On Linden, when the sun was low,
All bloodless lay the untrodden snow,
And dark as winter was the flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

But Linden saw another sight,
When the drum beat at dead of night,
Commanding fires of death to light
The darkness of her scenery.
By torch and trumpet fast arrayed,
Each horseman drew his battle blade,
And, furious, every charger neighed,
To join the dreadful revelry.

Then shook the hills with thunder
riven,
Then rushed the steeds to battle
driven,
And louder than the bolts of heaven
Far flashed the red artillery.

But redder yet that light shall glow
On Linden's hills of stained snow,
And bloodier yet the torrent flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

'Tis morn; but scarce yon level sun
Can pierce the war clouds, rolling dun,
Where furious Frank and fiery Hun
Shout in their sulphurous canopy.

The combat deepens. On, ye brave,
Who rush to glory, or the grave!
Wave, Munich, all thy banners wave,
And charge with all thy chivalry!

Few, few shall part where many meet
The snow shall be their winding sheet,
And every turf beneath their feet
Shall be a soldier's sepulcher.

The Duke and the Artist.

In "Random Recollections" is this story of the Duke of Connaught. The incident happened at Windsor castle. The duke was criticising a water color done by R. Caton Woodville, representing a drummer in the guards: "Look here, Mr. Woodville," he said, "you have made a mistake in the mounting of the brading on this drummer's coat; the fringe on the side of the chest ought to run in this direction," indicating the line. "I am certain of it, for as a boy I wore the uniform, but I will show you what I mean," and, turning to his A. D. C., he asked him to have the bugler of the castle guard sent up. The bugler came, and the duke, turning toward him, said, "Now, Mr. Woodville, I will show you what I mean." And then, as he looked critically at the boy's uniform, he exclaimed, "By Jove, Mr. Woodville, you are right, after all!"

Justifying His Expense.

Managers who have to pass on expense accounts will appreciate David Gibson's story about a Chicago salesman who paid $8 excess fare to reach New York on a fast train. "What time did you arrive in New York?" asked the employer. "Nine-forty in the morning." "What did you do when you got in?" "Went up to the hotel, took a bath and ate breakfast." "What time did you see your man?" asked the conservator. "About 3 in the afternoon," said the salesman. "Yes, but why have you got $8 charged up for excess fare on the limited when you could just as well have taken a regular train?" "Well," said the salesman, "it looked better to be on that train."—New York World.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Showing Present Beautiful Edifice and New Parsonage.

The history of Methodism in Fayette County dates from 1811. In that year the town of Washington Court House was laid out, and the first Quarterly Meeting held at the residence of Joel Wood, twelve miles to the north. A class was organized in 1813 with Jesse Rowe as leader.

In 1817 the local society erected its first house of worship. This was soon replaced by a rude brick building, further enlarged in 1843.

With added years came a growing membership, and in 1866-67 the third church building was erected. This answered the needs of the organization until 1896, when the people, under the able leadership of the pastor, the Rev. Franklin McElfresh, D. D., built the present modern and commodious house of worship. Extensive improvements upon the property have just been completed, the interior has been decorated and the equipment throughout made more adequate.

For the fourth time the Ohio Annual Conference convenes in Washington Court House. The first session was in 1871, when Bishop Janes presided. Again in 1883, and in 1897, the Conference met here, the presiding Bishops being Thomas Bowman and Earl Cranston, respectively.

DESERT SIGNPOSTS.

Rude Rock Heaps by Which Indians Located Running Water.

In traveling over the plains of western Texas, writes a contributor, I have now and then come on two little isolated heaps of rock that at first glance seemed not at all remarkable. After a time, I noticed that one heap was generally about three feet high, and the other about a foot lower. The two were always within a few feet of each other, and usually on an elevation or plateau that had a view of the country for five miles or more.

The rocks were roughly heaped together, as if left by children at play. I sometimes wondered if they could be the ruins of an ancient stone building; but that was improbable, for there was scarcely another stone in sight.

Years later I learned the actual significance of these rock heaps from an old Indian whose mind was stored with all the legends and customs and deeds of his people. According to him, when the Great Spirit lapped up the mighty rivers of the plains, he left springs and water basins here and there for the antelope and the Indian. These the antelope easily found by scent, but the Indian had to search long and anxiously for them. Once found, they were seldom lost—thanks to these rude rock heaps.

I watched the old fellow crouch down behind the taller heap, sight over the low one, and mark the farthest object in a straight line, which in this case was a clump of bushes on the horizon. We rode toward these bushes and found—not water, as I had expected, but two other heaps of rocks. Sighting as before, and taking a rock faced cliff toward the southwest as a goal, we rode two miles farther, and there, trickling out from beneath the cliff's rocky brow, was a spring of fresh, clear water.

The old Indian said that whenever a band of Indians came upon a new spring, they built these rock heaps along their trail; since then I have followed some half dozen of these rude signposts, and found them to lead either to water, or to places that showed traces of a former watercourse.—Youth's Companion.

Jones' little boy came home from school one day very boastful of the fact that he could spell dog, but when he was asked by his father to do so he hesitated.

"Yes."

"Well, Blank ain't got any dog."—Woman's Home Companion.

Typhoid and Coconut Milk.

An English writer tells of a colored woman in Trinidad who was dying, beyond all hope, of typhoid, and pleaded to be allowed to drink of coconut juice. She was beyond the reach of good or harm, so she had her cocoanuts and drank the juice, not of one but of eight in succession—perhaps a gallon of liquid, and the orgie indisputably saved her life.

Hearing Heart Beats.

If you hear your heart beat in one ear, as many persons do, it is no proof of anything wrong with the heart. It is much more likely to be a local defect such as chronic catarrh of the middle ear or stiffness and retraction of the drum. This on the authority of Dr. Robert H. Babcock of Chicago.

HUMAN SOLDER.

The Reason Blood From a Cut Clots and Plugs the Wound.

Why is it that the boy who cuts his finger with a jackknife making a willow whistle does not bleed to death? As a matter of fact, he may if he is what the medical profession call a "bleeder," a condition of things by no means rare and one which every surgeon who undertakes to do even the most minor operation must inform himself about. The bleeder or hemophilic, as the doctor calls him, is always in immediate danger of just this kind of accident because his blood is lacking in the clotting principle known as fibrinogen.

This principle is a gift from good Mother Nature, or a kind Providence, if you choose, and exists for no other purpose than the saving of human life. When a wound deep enough to injure a vein or artery is made through the skin the blood pours out in considerable quantity, but in a few minutes the current lessens and a congealing mass begins to appear. This means that the fibrin is catching the blood corpuscles and holding them fast like fish caught in a net. The semisolid clot thus formed is the solder which a plumber fuses upon a leaking pipe.

To be sure, this is not a perfect mechanism, for if bleeding is coming from a fair sized artery the blood will spurt out into space, and no clot can form since it is too quickly washed away. Here, however, by another conservative process the blood pressure is reduced, as a result of which the artery begins to contract owing to the elasticity of its walls and to influence of the nervous system, and in this way the hemorrhage will finally cease.

The clot left in the wound soon begins to contract. Water (serum) is forced out, and the remaining substances hold the wound firmly as if in a splint. Then come the blood corpuscles, bringing the materials necessary for reconstruction of the "blood pipe," and in a few days new tissue, penetrated by fine hairlike blood vessels, which can be seen only by a high power microscope, begins to form. In a relatively short time only a thin "scar" remains.—New York World.

Paris, Sept. 10.—Everything points to the belief that the French are gaining real successes which will be decisive if the center in the Vitry-le-Francois district holds out. The Germans seem to be making the strongest effort there with troops from eastern Belgium and Luxemburg who are not so fatigued as General Von Kluck's troops, composing the German right wing. The French are holding their positions sufficiently well to allow the successes their left is obtaining to be driven home.

The official communique says: "On our left wing all the attempts of the Germans to break our formations of those of our troops on the right bank of the Ourcq were unsuccessful. The English army has crossed the Marne. The enemy has retreated about forty capitulation. The 40,000 prisoners reported captured probably include French and English troops, as Maubeuge was occupied by both French and English during the retreat of the allied armies from Belgium. The chief result of the capture of Maubeuge, according to military experts, will be the release of the besieging force for operations nearer Paris.

Two German merchant ships have been sunk in the Atlantic by the French cruisers Conde and Descartes, aided by the British cruiser Bristol.

Russian troops have signally defeated the Austrians at Rawa, thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg. Russia is now concentrating 3,500,000 troops for the invasion of German Poland.

Pressure for funds to carry on the war has forced Germany to call on the Imperial bank to float a loan of $250,000,000. The money will be obtained by the sale of five per cent treasury bonds and government notes.

SECOND ARMY SUFFERS ROUT

Russians Mass 2,000,000 Strong Along the East Prussian Border With the Intention of Resuming the German Invasion—Internal Troubles Threatening the Dual Monarchy—Progress of Russian Campaign.

Rome, Sept. 10.—Attempting to evade the Russian double advance, the Austrians have evacuated Russian Poland, following the rout of another army at Rawa, thirty-two miles northwest of Lemberg, Galicia, according to advices from St. Petersburg.

Complete victory is claimed by the Russian war office in the fighting that has been raging north of Lemberg and it is reported that a large number of Germans were among the troops captured.

With the menace from the south removed from their advance, the Russians have massed, 2,000,000 strong, along the East Prussian frontier, with the evident intention of resuming the German invasion.

News from Austria indicates that the dual monarchy is in grave danger of internal troubles, while her military situation is daily becoming worse.

Even Berlin seems to have lost something of its prevailing optimism. It confesses to the turning of anxious eyes in the direction of the ally in Galicia. During the first few weeks of war Germany and Austria virtually dictated the direction of the campaign along the Russian border, because of the inadequacy of Russian railroad and other transport. But this situation has been radically changed by the Russian successes in Galicia.

One of the most significant features of the Austrian misfortunes is the growing uneasiness in Rumania and other Balkan states. Montenegro and Serbia already are engaged against Austria and have taken the offensive. Rumania also is hungry for territory and is said to be ready at any moment to throw her 200,000 veteran troops against Austria.

BATTLE RAGED MANY HOURS

Paris, Sept. 10.—The battle at Senlis, thirty miles north of Paris, raged from morning to the afternoon. The town was occupied by a British force, supported by French light cavalry and African troops. They held their ground until noon. At that time Germans poured in from all the villages nearby, converging on Senlis, which had to submit to a rather heavy bombardment. Several monuments and buildings including the cathedral were damaged.

The first Uhlans appeared about one o'clock, coming from the direction of Crepy-en-Valois and Renteuil. The allies then retired in good order after destroying the stores. The Germans entered the town an hour later. According to their custom they entered the houses and drove out the residents, forcing them to march before them. Chantilly, according to this account, was saved from destruction by the devotion of the mayor of the town.

THE POPE TO APPEAL FOR PEACE

Hopes Encyclical Will Lead to An Armistice.

Rome, Sept. 10.—The forthcoming papal encyclical, the issue of which has been purposely delayed until the result of a decisive battle has been announced, will contain an appeal for peace.

Pope Benedict has approached Austria and Germany through their envoys here, and both informed the pontiff that they are favorably disposed to second his efforts for peace. The czar is understood to be prepared to submit the pope's offer to the deferential consideration of England and France. Pope Benedict hopes that his appeal may lead to an armistice which would be a prelude of peace.

SMOKE SIGNAL BETRAY ENEMY

Copenhagen, Sept. 10.—According to private dispatches received here, the Austrian headquarters staff attributes the defeat of the Austrian armies to the Slav spy system, which has been brought to a fine art. The Austrian staff asserts it can prove that the movements of the army around Lemberg were divulged to the Russians by means of smoke signals from house tops. It has been the practice, the Austrians believe, for the people of Galicia to send up different colored smoke through their chimneys when the movements of the Austrian army became known in the towns and villages. Thus a certain kind of coal would give a black smoke. Wood was burned to give white smoke. The method would probably never have been even guessed at were it not that a spy was caught and confessed before being shot.

TROOPS CAPTURE BOMB DROPPERS

Paris, Sept. 10.—Among the prisoners taken by the French at Cholet were two lieutenants of the German aviation corps, who recently bombarded Paris. The men were arrested at Orry-la-Ville in the department of Oise.

A radiogram from Berlin to the German embassy here explains in addition to other matters the situation with regard to the relations of Spain toward the warring nations. It said: "The Spanish ambassador at Berlin strongly denies the rumors of Spain's unfriendly attitude against Germany and Austria. All the Spanish party leaders are for a strictly neutral position on the part of their government."

In another dispatch there was this reference to Maubeuge: "All German papers emphasize the importance of the capture of Maubeuge."

Clog Almanacs.

In early times in England the people used what were called clog almanacs which remained in use till the beginning of the eighteenth century. An old writer thus describes them:

"This almanac is usually a square piece of wood containing three months on each of the four edges. The number of days in them are expressed by notches, the first day by a notch with a putulous stroke turned up from it and every seventh by a large sized notch. Over against many of the notches are placed on the left hand several marks or symbols denoting the golden number or cycle of the moon. The festivals are marked by symbols of the several saints issuing from the notches."

Will Germany Sue for Peace?

Rumors are persistent that Germany has signified a willingness to receive and seriously consider proposals looking to the restoration of permanent peace in distracted Europe.

Confirmation of these rumors from an authoritative source are entirely lacking; but, nevertheless, the rumors that Germany is ready to make peace circulate with that persistency which leads to the hope that there may be some real foundation for them after all.

The people of all lands in the nations now at war and in the nations enjoying peace, sincerely hope that the rumors may prove to be well founded and that before the snow flies Europe will be at peace, the nations thereof engaged in the pleasurable and profitable pursuits of life and the great commerce of the world once more restored.

Later developments of the war, according to news reports, seem to be not so favorable to the German armies and indicate that the final defeat of the Kaiser's grand army by the hosts of the allies is not so distant as many believed.

The greater number of disinterested critics have insisted that sooner or later Germany would meet defeat on the battlefields of Europe. Indeed few were prepared at the outset of the war, to believe that the successes of the German armies would be so pronounced and so continuous as they have been.

The phenomenal success of the German army—the practically unbroken line of victories won—has been due to a great extent, strange to say, that adoption of the column attack.

That plan of battle was adopted by Napoleon and by resort to that plan he was able to conquer the combined armies of Europe. Until the coming of Napoleon into the arena of war the plan of battle—both attack and defense was the line formation. Napoleon revived the plan of attacking by columns and was marvelously successful until on the field of Waterloo, his columns were hurled to defeat and annihilation against "the bristling squares of Wellington".

It was on the field of Waterloo that the infantry line plan of battle adopted by the allies, under Wellington and Blucher, was again revived and proved its superiority over the column attack plan of Napoleon, and that plan of warfare has been the favorite one in Europe ever since that time.

Among experts the plan of attack by columns has been regarded as obsolete and entirely useless against the heavy artillery and machine gun fire, possible with the improved equipment of the present day and capable of deadly concentration.

It was a surprise therefore, to the allies and to the military experts of the world to see Germany revive the Napoleonic plan of battle and hurl her gigantic columns of infantry in column formation, directly at one point in the line of defense. The cost was frightful, but the result has proven satisfactory. The places of the thousands of Germans mowed down by the deadly fire were taken by other onrushing thousands with such rapidity that no diminution in the attacking column was noticeable.

Plans of warfare which proved effective at Waterloo have been ineffective in the present war and all expert theory to the contrary the lines of the allies have been beaten back and back from the frontiers of France, to the very gates of Paris by the irresistible charges of the Kaiser's columns.

There is no denying the fact that Germany has suffered staggering loss thus far in the war, that the victories which have come to her armies have been costly in life and treasure almost beyond human comprehension, and it need not surprise the world to learn as a fact, that victorious Germany is ready to sue for peace.

Poetry For Today

HOHENLINDEN.

On Linden, when the sun was low,
All bloodless lay the untrodden snow,
And dark as winter was the flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

But Linden saw another sight,
When the drum beat at dead of night,
Commanding fires of death to light
The darkness of her scenery.

By torch and trumpet fast arrayed,
Each horseman drew his battle blade,
And, furious, every charger neighed,
To join the dreadful revelry.

Then shook the hills with thunder riven,
Then rushed the steeds to battle driven,
And louder than the bolts of heaven
Far flashed the red artillery.

But redder yet that light shall glow
On Linden's hills of stained snow,
And bloodier yet the torrent flow
Of Iser, rolling rapidly.

'Tis morn; but scarce yon level sun
Can pierce the war clouds, rolling dun,
Where furious Frank and fiery Hun
Shout in their sulphurous canopy.

The combat deepens. On, ye brave,
Who rush to glory, or the grave!
Wave, Munich, all thy banners wave,
And charge with all thy chivalry!

Few, few shall part where many meet
The snow shall be their winding sheet,
And every turf beneath their feet
Shall be a soldier's sepulcher.

The Duke and the Artist.

In "Random Recollections" is this story of the Duke of Connaught. The incident happened at Windsor castle. The duke was criticising a water color done by R. Caton Woodville, representing a drummer in the guards: "Look here, Mr. Woodville," he said, "you have made a mistake in the mounting of the briding on this drummer's coat: the fringe on the side of the chest ought to run in this direction," indicating the line. "I am certain of it, for as a boy I wore the uniform, but I will show you what I mean," and, turning to his A. D. C., he asked him to have the bugler of the castle guard sent up. The bugler came, and the duke, turning toward him, said, "Now, Mr. Woodville, I will show you what I mean." And then, as he looked critically at the boy's uniform, he exclaimed, "By Jove, Mr. Woodville, you are right, after all!"

Justifying His Expense.

"What time did you arrive in New York?" asked the employer.

"Nine-forty in the morning."
"What did you do when you got in?"
"Went up to the hotel, took a bath and ate breakfast."

"What time did you see your man?" asked the conservator.

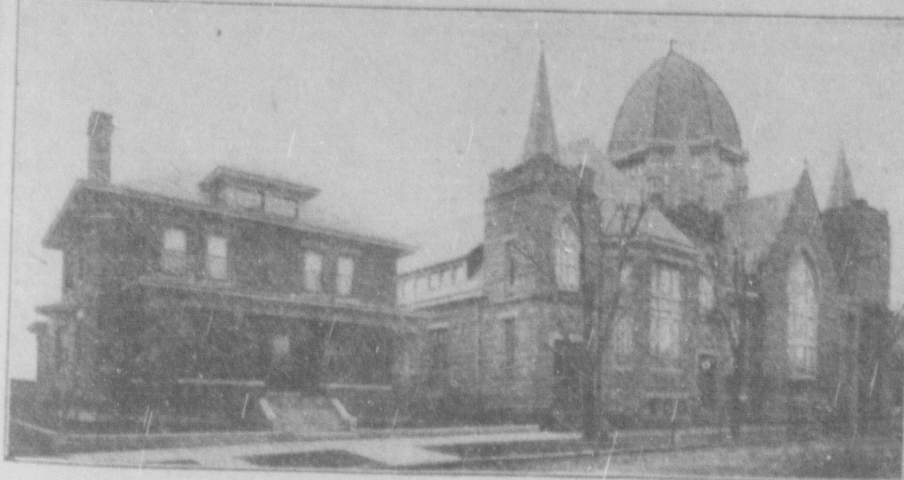

"About 3 in the afternoon," said the salesman.

"Yes, but why have you got $8 charged up for excess fare on the limited when you could just as well have taken a regular train?"

"Well," said the salesman, "it looked better to be on that train."—New York World.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH

Showing Present Beautiful Edifice and New Parsonage.

The history of Methodism in Fayette County dates from 1811. In that year the town of Washington Court House was laid out, and the first Quarterly Meeting held at the residence of Joel Wood, twelve miles to the north. A class was organized in 1813 with Jesse Rowe as leader.

In 1817 the local society erected its first house of worship. This was soon replaced by a rude brick building, further enlarged in 1843.

With added years came a growing membership, and in 1866-67 the third church building was erected. This answered the needs of the organization until 1896, when the people, under the able leadership of the pastor, the Rev. Franklin McElfresh, D. D., built the present modern and commodious house of worship. Extensive improvements upon the property have just been completed, the interior has been decorated and the equipment throughout made more adequate.

For the fourth time the Ohio Annual Conference convenes in Washington Court House. The first session was in 1871, when Bishop James presided. Again in 1883, and in 1897, the Conference met here, the presiding Bishops being Thomas Bowman and Earl Cranston, respectively.

Rude Rock Heaps by Which Indians Located Running Water.

In traveling over the plains of western Texas, writes a contributor, I have now and then come on two little isolated heaps of rock that at first glance seemed not at all remarkable. After a time, I noticed that one heap was generally about three feet high, and the other about a foot lower. The two were always within a few feet of each other, and usually on an elevation or plateau that had a view of the country for five miles or more.

The rocks were roughly heaped together, as if left by children at play. I sometimes wondered if they could be the ruins of an ancient stone building; but that was improbable, for there was scarcely another stone in sight.

Years later I learned the actual significance of these rock heaps from an old Indian whose mind was stored with all the legends and customs and deeds of his people. According to him, when the Great Spirit lapped up the mighty rivers of the plains, he left springs and water basins here and there for the antelope and the Indian. These the antelope easily found by scent, but the Indian had to search long and anxiously for them. Once found, they were seldom lost—thanks to these rude rock heaps.

I watched the old fellow crouch down behind the taller heap, sight over the low one, and mark the farthest object in a straight line, which in this case was a clump of bushes on the horizon. We rode toward these bushes and found—not water, as I had expected, but two other heaps of rocks. Sighting as before, and taking a rock faced cliff toward the southwest as a goal, we rode two miles farther, and there, trickling out from beneath the cliff's rocky brow, was a spring of fresh, clear water.

The old Indian said that whenever a band of Indians came upon a new spring, they built these rock heaps along their trail; since then I have followed some half dozen of these rude signposts, and found them to lead either to water, or to places that showed traces of a former watercourse.—Youth's Companion.

Jones' little boy came home from school one day very boastful of the fact that he could spell dog, but when he was asked by his father to do so he hesitated.

"A dog like Blank's dog?"

"Yes."

Typhoid and Coconut Milk.

An English writer tells of a colored woman in Trinidad who was dying, beyond all hope, of typhoid, and pleaded to be allowed to drink of coconut juice. She was beyond the reach of good or harm, so she had her coconuts and drank the juice, not of one but of eight in succession—perhaps a gallon of liquid, and the orle indisputably saved her life.

Hearing Heart Beats.

If you hear your heart beat in one ear, as many persons do, it is no proof of anything wrong with the heart. It is much more likely to be a local defect such as chronic catarrh of the middle ear or stiffness and retraction of the drum. This on the authority of Dr. Robert H. Babcock of Chicago.

HUMAN SOLDIER.

The Reason Blood From a Cut Closes and Plugs the Wound.

Why is it that the boy who cuts his finger with a jackknife making a willow whistle does not bleed to death? As a matter of fact, he may if he is what the medical profession call a "bleeder," a condition of things by no means rare and one which every surgeon who undertakes to do even the most minor operation must inform himself about. The bleeder or hemophilic, as the doctor calls him, is always in immediate danger of just this kind of accident because his blood is lacking in the clotting principle known as fibrinogen.

This principle is a gift from good Mother Nature, or a kind Providence, if you choose, and exists for no other purpose than the saving of human life. When a wound deep enough to injure a vein or artery is made through the skin the blood pours out in considerable quantity, but in a few minutes the current lessens and a congealing mass begins to appear. This means that the fibrin is catching the blood corpuscles and holding them fast like fish caught in a net. The semisolid clot thus formed is the soldier which a plumber fuses upon a leaking pipe.

To be sure, this is not a perfect mechanism, for if bleeding is coming from a fair sized artery the blood will spurt out into space, and no clot can form since it is too quickly washed away. Here, however, by another conservative process the blood pressure is reduced, as a result of which the artery begins to contract owing to the elasticity of its walls and to influence of the nervous system, and in this way the hemorrhage will finally cease.

The clot left in the wound soon begins to contract. Water (serum) is forced out, and the remaining substances hold the wound firmly as if in a splint. Then come the blood corpuscles, bringing the materials necessary for reconstruction of the "blood pipe," and in a few days new tissue, penetrated by fine hairlike blood vessels, which can be seen only by a high power microscope, begins to form. In a relatively short time only a thin "scar" remains.—New York World.

ANOTHER HORSE STOLEN
POLICE TAKE UP SEARCH

Kirby Henderson Suspected of Being Connected With the Trick, as Animal Was Removed From Henderson's Barn During Night—Young Man Recently Released From Reformatory After Term for Stealing Horse.

The second horse to be stolen in this county within the past two weeks was removed from the James Henderson stable in this city some time Wednesday night, and the thief immediately took steps to put all the distance he could between himself and the police before the discovery was made Thursday morning.

The animal belonged to Henry Green, of Hillsboro, who drove to this city Wednesday, and remained at the home of James Henderson over night. Henderson, who had learned that his son, Kirby, who has a mania for stealing horses, was in the city, removed his own horse from the barn, and when the Hillsboro man arrived the visitor's horse was placed in the Henderson barn.

Thursday morning it was found that the barn had been entered and that the horse was missing. An examination disclosed that a buggy had been obtained from some unknown source, and the horse attached to the rig and driven away.

Suspicion immediately fell upon Kirby Henderson, the young man who was released from the Mansfield Reformatory a short time ago after serving a term for stealing his father's horse in this city a year or two ago. A search for the young man failed to reveal his whereabouts, and the police were appealed to for assistance in ferreting out the thief and arresting him.

The authorities set about spreading the net to apprehend the thief and missing horse, and hope for definite results within the next 48 hours.

The missing animal is not of very great value. It is a bay horse, weighing about 850 to 900 pounds, is blind in left eye, and has a white left hind foot.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
BEING REMODELED

The Church of Christ in Christian union, situated on Rawling street, is undergoing complete repair and when finished within a short time will present a very tasty appearance. In addition to the extensive repairs a commodious entrance has been erected, surmounted by a neat belfry extending several feet above the church and housing a fine, large, new bell. Plans for the improvement were laid some little time before the death of the late John Lininger, who was actively interested in the church, and as a memorial his estate purchased and erected the bell in accordance with his request.

The church will be ready for occupancy within a few days. Officials and members are highly pleased with their improvements and look forward to continued substantial growth of the organization.

NEW LAURELS ADDED TO IMPERIAL STAFF'S LIST

After a most delightful outing, and with new laurels added to their already large list, members of the Imperial Degree Staff returned to this city Thursday morning, coming from Toledo to Dayton by special train, and their cars were then attached to regular morning train on the C. H. & D.

All arrived in good health, although very much wearied by the work of Wednesday night, and the constant travel since leaving this city.

After reaching Buffalo Monday morning, the party went to Niagara Falls and remained there until the next day, enjoying themselves to the limit, taking the gorge ride, and many even viewing the mysterious "burning spring", although it is said that some protested vigorously against the exhibition.

Upon arriving in Detroit, after a pleasant night trip from Buffalo Tuesday night, the party boarded a train for Toledo, arriving there Wednesday morning after ten o'clock, and the staff property men took up the work of preparing for the night work. A crowd said to number fully 3000 Odd Fellows witnessed the conferring of first degree upon a large class of candidates, and praised the staff for the beautiful work. All were delighted with the work of Imperial Staff, and did not hesitate to say so.

The work moved smoothly with the exception of an accident which befell Capt. Rell G. Allen, of the guards. He sustained a fall at one of the flights of steps off the stage, but soon recovered sufficiently to proceed with the work.

Following the work the property was packed and the staff and those who accompanied them, boarded the special train for home.

A member of the light fingered gentry relieved one man of his purse, $25 and some valuable papers while in Toledo.

INTENSE SUFFERING

Sam Wolfe, an employee of a local shop, met with a very painful accident while engaged in soldering a joint of a water tank.

The molten metal used in soldering exploded and a large quantity was hurled into the young man's face and his right eye was very badly burned, and the sight nearly destroyed.

The metal clung to the flesh and penetrated deeply. Physicians removed most of the metal and dressed the wounds. The injuries have caused Wolfe a great deal of suffering.

The Million Dollar Mystery Wednesday

In Social Circles

It is safe to prophecy that in the procession of autumn nuptial events there will be no more ideal home wedding, marked by greater beauty of appointment than the one solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fremont Bonham Wednesday night at eight o'clock, when the youngest daughter, Nina Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Curtis Browne, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Browne, of Cincinnati.

The bride is one of the most attractive girls of the younger set, an extremely pretty and vivacious brunette, whose talent as a reader, has frequently given pleasure to Washington audiences.

The bridegroom also is quite young and affable, manly fellow, who is successfully established with his father in the management of the Browne hotel in Cincinnati.

It was pure and simple a wedding of young people, with the fifty guests, aside from close relatives, confined to the young friends of the bride and bridegroom. The Buck florists had decorated the home exquisitely, roses, asters and greenery employed in a rose and white color scheme.

Snowy linen covered the floors and in one corner of the living room was a wonderfully beautiful bridal altar built up against a background of white, covered with garlands of smilax and fern. The altar was in the form of an arch of white, twined with smilax, caught by gauze bows and overhead hung garlands of smilax and pink rose buds. Numerous pink candles lighted the altar and on either side rose immense wicker flower vases of white and gold, filled with shaded pink and white asters.

Adding to the beauty of the marriage ceremony was the musical program which preceded it.

Miss Helen Jones, a brilliant pianist, and Mr. James Kneisley, Washington's talented violinist, played "At Sunset" and "Tramonti," before Miss Regina McDonald sang, "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" in her lovely, resonant soprano.

The chords of the Lohengrin wedding march then summoned the young couple, who were preceded by the officiating minister, Rev. W. B. Gage.

With no attendants, and the softly lighted bridal altar, a perfect setting, the wedding vows were spoken. Rev. Gage's ring ceremony both beautiful and impressive.

The bride was a picture of girlish beauty in her wedding robes. Her gown was of white crepe meteor and chiffon cloth, the crepe meteor, forming an over tunic with square train falling gracefully from the shoulders to the floor; long sleeves and deep collar of Duchess lace. Fastened to her dark hair with a chaplet of swansonia was a long veil of Duchess lace effect, singularly becoming, and she carried an exquisite shower bouquet of bride's roses, swansonia and maiden's hair fern.

After congratulations Caterer Easton served an elaborate wedding supper.

The bride and bridegroom, with their young friends were seated in the dining room, effectively decorated in rose color. The center embellishment of the bridal table was a superb round effect of pink roses and smilax.

Miss Nina Dahl found the ring, Miss Prudence Culhan the dime and Miss Emily Tanzy caught the bride's bouquet.

An array of handsome gifts were displayed upstairs.

The bridegroom's parents were in the reception line with Mr. and Mrs. Bonham and the bride's two sisters, Mrs. George Worrell and Mrs. Carl Mallow assisted in the reception hospitalities.

Mrs. Bonham was wearing heliotrope silk poplin, with relief of lace, and Mrs. Browne, Alice Blue silk raine, with white lace.

Mrs. Worrell was lovely in white charmeuse and Mrs. Mallow fair and petite in her wedding gown.

The bride's going away gown was a smart tailored suit of plum color, with black velvet hat and shaded roses.

The young couple left on the 10:50 train for an eastern trip. They were given a great send off by the young guests.

The out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bonham, Mr. Frank Bonham, Mr. Scott Bonham, Miss Ruby Alexander, of Cincinnati; Miss Mary Wright and Mr. Andrew Wright of Wooster.

Thirty automobiles containing 150 Kingstonians, arrived in this city last evening. Their purpose was to boost the Chautauqua to be held at Kingston beginning September 11th and lasting six days. The Kingston people are very enthusiastic and expect to make this the best and biggest event ever held in their town. A tent 70 by 110 feet is to be erected on the Methodist parsonage lot near the center of town. This tent will seat about 850 people.—Chillicothe Advertiser, Sept. 4.

An unusually large number of the members of the Ladies' Guild and also visitors enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Joseph Kimball and assisting hostesses at the fortnightly Kensington held at the spacious Kimball home Wednesday afternoon.

The affair was of delightful sociability, with victrola music adding pleasure, a delicious collation and fall roses used in decoration.

Assisting Mrs. Kimball in entertaining were Mesdames W. B. Gage, Mary Rogers, Wm. Devaney and W. B. Snider.

A half dozen girls were indebted to Miss Lydia Vincent for a jolly slumber party and midnight feast last night.

Mrs. Clark McCoy hospitably entertained the Sugar Grove W. C. T. U. Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Howard Hicks delightfully entertained her Sunday school class of young men Wednesday evening.

Games, music and light refreshments were features of the evening.

Mr. Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Howard McLean assisted the hostess.

LECTURE COURSE MAY OPEN IN NOV.

If present plans of the Washington Lecture Course Committee do not fall the course will open sometime in November, with one of the strongest numbers of the series.

The Coit Lyceum Bureau desired to open early next month, but this was not satisfactory to the committee and negotiations are now under way to have the course open the following month. The Bureau was informed that rather than open the course prematurely, the committee would cancel the contract and purchase another course. It is expected that this will bring the Bureau to time.

The series purchased for the coming course is: The M. Kellerman Company; Bede-Seidel Debate; Mont-aville Wood; Laurant & Company and the Recital Artists.

SENATOR STONE URGES CALMNESS

Americans Urged to Observe
Strict Neutrality.

SPEECH IMPRESSES SENATE

Deplores Partisan Expressions On the
Part of Citizens and the Attitude of
Certain Newspapers — Americans,
He Says, Should First Promote Interests and Welfare of Their Own Country.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Senator William J. Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, made a fervent appeal in the senate to the American people to observe the strictest neutrality in regard to the European war. The senator's speech made a profound impression on the senate.

"The effect of the appeal of the president became instantly manifest," said Senator Stone referring to President Wilson's admonition to the people to observe neutrality. "Undoubtedly that address has exercised a fine restraining influence on the conduct and even on the expression of a great body of the people. But as this stupendous conflict progresses from week to week it has become the one all absorbing subject of public thought and attention; and now, I regret to say, that we have everywhere increasing evidences that many of our people are being more divided in groups, and that these groups are becoming more and more sympathetic and outspoken partisans of the one side or the other; especially is this true of a large number of our most important daily papers.

"Every important country of Europe is represented here in the naturalized foreign-born population or in their immediate offspring. It is not only natural, but almost inevitable, that the sympathies of these people should be poured forth in strong currents upon their respective fatherlands. But I wish to admonish these, my fellow citizens, and to impress upon them a renewed realization of the supreme and all important fact that they are, above all, American citizens. I appeal to these American citizens first to serve and promote the interests, welfare and honor of our government and people."

Senator Stone then referred to the attitude of some of the big newspapers and admonished them to avoid partisan expressions.

ROADS MEN URGE LEVY

Columbus, O., Sept. 10.—Alleging that the proposed constitutional amendment to limit the maximum tax rate to ten mills, which will be voted on at the November election, if adopted, will preclude all further possibilities of additional tax levies for country road purposes—county construction, repair and maintenance or to meet state aid—the Ohio Good Roads Federation has sent out letters to all prosecuting attorneys and boards of county commissioners, advising them to submit at the November election a proposition to make an additional tax levy of two mills above the present maximum rate.

FAVOR PACT WITH "KING OF KINGS"

Washington, Sept. 10.—The foreign relations committee ordered a favorable report on a treaty of commerce between the United States and "Lidj Yassou, son of Menlik, king of kings of Ethiopia." The reading of the title of the treaty in the executive session provoked considerable merriment.

GERMANS BORROW MANY MILLIONS

Washington, Sept. 10.—A German war loan of one milliard marks ($238,000,000) treasury bills and an unlimited state loan has been announced at Berlin, according to a dispatch received at the German embassy here. The loan bears five per cent interest and was given out at 97.5.

COUNTRY PRODUCTS SOARING

American Packers Control Argentine Output of Meat.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Average prices of practically all important agricultural products on September 1 showed increases over quotations of one year ago, according to the department of agriculture's general review. Cotton was the marked exception, falling nearly three cents a pound. Nearly all the grains showed big increases, while average prices of meat animals on August 15 were $7.63 per hundredweight, compared with $7.20 a year ago and $6.56 in 1912. Butter and potatoes show slight decreases.

According to testimony before Maritime McAdoo in New York, beef packers of the United States are now in absolute control of the Argentine output of beef, thus destroying the value of Argentine beef as a competitive check on the prices of native beef.

ST. GAUDENS' GOLD COINS.

This Country Did Not Appreciate Their Art, Says a Critic.

All the arts but one, says Layton Crippen in his book, "Clay and Fire," show degradation today, in many cases degradation so great that they have virtually ceased to exist. We have not only forgotten how to make beautiful things, but we have even acquired an instinctive dislike of beautiful things. They seem to have become offensive to us.

"There was recently one curious little instance to which I am tempted to refer showing as it did that in our present stage of degradation beauty is not only ignored, but has actually become offensive, causes instinctive dislike. The St. Gaudens ten and five dollar gold pieces were undoubtedly the noblest coins produced in any country in 200 years. Within a couple of months the American public had bowed them out of circulation.

"The explanation was afterward made that the coins were disliked because the relief was inconspicuously high, but a reference to the files of the New York or Chicago papers will convince anybody that the original outcry was against the design and only the design of these exquisite examples of die cutting. But America has no monopoly of this instinctive hatred of beauty. It is exemplified in the vandalism that is now common all over Europe, the destruction of ancient and glorious buildings, usually without valid excuse."

OXYGEN GAS.

The Value of Rev. Joseph Priestley's Momentous Discovery.

Oxygen was discovered in the year 1774. Joseph Priestley, a dissenting English clergyman who had turned scientist, obtained the hitherto unknown gas by igniting mercuric oxide. The oxygen he thus produced he called "dephlogisticated air."

He and Benjamin Franklin had often

Every Morning

Butter-Krust Bread SAUER'S BAKERY and YOUR GROCERY

discussed the mysterious composition of air and water. No one up to that time had determined what element it was in both which so invigorated the physical energies of man. It is said that Priestley made his actual discovery of the oxygen while experimenting in a brewery near his home in England. He spent the last ten years of his life in the United States, a voluntary exile.

Today a monument stands in England to commemorate Priestley's discovery. Were he alive, he could read of thousands of lives saved by his work. Oxygen is the only gas capable of supporting respiration, and is repeatedly used in the sick chamber to pull a patient through a crisis. Helms equipped with oxygen attachments enable the diver to go to ocean depths, the aviator to ascend into rarified air, the fireman to stand in dense smoke, and rescuers to descend into gas filled mines. So wide are its uses that some 4,000,000 cubic feet of this gas are bottled in the United States every year.—New York Post.

A DISH OF SNAILS.

They Have a Flavor Wholly Different From Any Other Food.

It is a mistake to think that snails are eaten only by the French. They have been known and used to a certain extent by the English ever since the days when snails boiled in milk were esteemed a remedy for consumption, and it has been said that a certain breed of snail now found in Surrey, England, was imported by one of the earls of Arundel for use of his falling wife.

One of the recipes for cooking snails is indicated by the verse of Edmund Spenser, which runs:

With our sharp weapons we shall thee
fray,
And take the cas till that thou best in.
We shall thee fray out of thy foule skin,
And in a dish, with onions and pepper,
We shall thee dresse with strong vynogare.

If you have never eaten snails, and the majority of persons who will read this have not, it is difficult to comprehend what the snail tastes like. It is difficult, if not impossible, to describe a flavor or a scent without comparison to something already known by the person to whom one would transmit the information, and it is said by an authority on snails that they have an original kind of flavor, not in the least like anything else. To be at his best the snail should be young and in vigorous and robust health. If improperly cooked he will be tough; if properly cooked he will be tender.

Snail culture in France is profitable. A single snail can produce sixty little snails in a season, but birds like them, frost kills them and some may run, or crawl, away. A French newspaper recently published the information that half a million "first quality" snails, the price of which averages about $1.40 per thousand, can be produced on an acre of land. It is necessary to feed them only once a day, but they have good appetites, especially after a rain, for cabbage and other green vegetables.—Washington Star.

A Good Start by Henry.
They were discussing the announcements of new books. One said: "I understand that Henry James is at work on a new thing."
"My information," said another, "is that he has already completed the greater part of the opening sentence."

The Most Expensive Sport.
"The most expensive sport of all," said Lord Wimborne on one occasion, "is not polo, but yachting."
He smiled and added:
"Yachting is, in fact, so ruinously expensive that a yacht might well be called a floating debt."—Chicago Herald.

HEART OF THE KAISER "BLEEDS FOR LOUVAIN"

Washington, Sept. 10.—President Wilson received a personal cablegram from Emperor William of Germany, protesting against the use of the allied army of dum-dum bullet and the participation in the war by civilians of Belgium. The message expressed also the German emperor's deep regret at the destruction of the Belgian city of Louvain. "My heart bleeds for Louvain," is one of the phrases which the emperor is understood to have used. He declared, however, that the population of Belgium had offered such resistance that his generals had in many cases found it necessary to administer severe punishment.

WARFARE CRIPPLES COPPER INDUSTRY

Washington, Sept. 10.—Federal aid for the copper industry, which is said to have been badly hit by the war, is proposed in a resolution introduced in the house by Representative McDonald of Michigan, a Progressive. The resolution directs the secretary of the treasury to purchase not to exceed 15,000,000 pounds of copper bullion from smelting works located in the United States. It is provided that in making purchases the price shall not exceed the average price of copper bullion in New York for the six months beginning January, 1914, and ending in June.

LENGTHY CY FALKENBURG HAS SHOWN HIS OLD TIME FORM WITH FEDERALS

Indianapolis, September 10.—Cy Falkenburg, the elongated twirler who jumped the Cleveland team to join the local Federal league club, has been going well this year. With a record of eighteen games won and fifteen lost he has been in but thirty-six games, which means that only in a trio of struggles has he been lifted or called as a reserve. He has gone the route regularly and has more strikeouts to his credit than any other pitcher in the young league.

BLUFFING IN A DUEL.

"Labby" Put Up a Brave Front, Though He Was Badly Scared.

During his early diplomatic career while he was attached to the embassy in Stockholm Henry Labouchere fought a duel.

"There was a want of logic about the entire proceeding that went to my heart," he confessed later. "To be killed is bad enough, but to be killed paradoxically is worse. I never felt more dismal in my life."

Paradoxical the combat certainly was, since Labouchere had been the challenger, his ground of offense being that his antagonist, an Austrian officer, had presumed to criticize the British minister for having given social countenance to a fellow Briton who, disapproving of duels, had recently declined a challenge from conscientious scruples.

The young diplomat, asserting with spirit that his chief had behaved properly and that Englishmen were not so silly as to fight duels, had left the rest to his seconds—and found himself pledged to fight the next morning with pistols at 7 o'clock. He had hoped for an apology, and admits he was dismayed; but he did not allow his feelings to be divined, and duly made his appearance upon the field of honor.

"The Austrian stood apart; I stood apart. The surgeon already eyed me as a 'subject.' The seconds consulted; then the Frenchman stepped out twelve paces. He had very short legs, and they seemed to be shorter than ever. After this came the loading of the pistols. Sometimes, I thought, seconds do not put in the bullets. That comforted me, but only for a moment, for the bullets were rammed down with cheerful energy. By this time we had been placed facing each other. A pistol was given to each of us. 'I am to give the signal,' said the Prussian. 'I shall count one, two, three, and then at the word fire you will both fire. Gentlemen, are you ready?' We both nodded. 'One, two, three, fire!' and both our pistols went off. No harm had been done."

He thought it was all over, when his opponent, stepping up, remarked that he supposed he ought to allow him a second shot, but should nothing come of it, he would not consent to a third. Reluctantly on the part of both participants a second shot was fired, and they both missed—if indeed either had aimed—again. Then Labouchere boldly demanded a third shot.

"The seconds consulted together. For a moment I feared they were going to grant my request, and I was greatly relieved when they informed me they considered that two shots were amply sufficient. I was delighted, but I pretended to be most unhappy and kept up the farce of being an aggrieved person."

The whole affair was certainly farcical; but the fun depended upon the leading actors being both very bad marksmen.—Exchange.

It Is Indeed.

In these days of the high cost of living the following story is not without a decided point.

The teacher of a primary class was trying to show the children the difference between natural and man made wonders and was finding it hard.

"What," she asked, "do you think is the most wonderful thing a man ever made?"

A little girl, whose parents were obviously harassed by the question of ways and means, replied as solemnly as the proverbial judge:

"A living for his family."—Woman's Home Companion.

speaker claims the privilege from the crown through the lord chancellor at the opening of every parliament, the form of request being that the commons "may have access to his majesty's royal person whenever occasion shall require."

The title of speaker, as applied, somewhat to the bewilderment of the ordinary mortal, to the one member of the house of commons who never by any chance makes a speech, really marks his duty of representing his fellow members in this way in necessary interviews with the monarch. He is the speaker for them all.

In the case of members of the house of lords the privilege of audience is personal, as the peers are individually hereditary counselors of the crown. It need not be exercised through the lord chancellor, who, indeed, is not necessarily a member of the house of lords at all.—London Cor. New York Sun.

War of the Three Petticoats.

A slighting reference by Frederick the Great to Mme. Pompadour, who was the ruling power in France for a score of years in the days of Louis XV., was one of the chief causes of the Seven Years' war, called by a witty Frenchman the "war of the three petticoats" from the fact that Mme. Pompadour of France, Maria Theresa of Austria and Catherine II. of Russia were on the same side in it.

LENGTHY CY FALKENBURG HAS SHOWN
HIS OLD TIME FORM WITH FEDERALS

Indianapolis, September 10.—Cy Falkenburg, the elongated twirler who jumped the Cleveland team to join the local Federal league club, has been going well this year. With a record of eighteen games won and fifteen lost he has been in but thirty-six games, which means that only in a trio of struggles has he been lifted or called as a reserve. He has gone the route regularly and has more strikeouts to his credit than any other pitcher in the young league.

FALKENBURG

BLUFFING IN A DUEL.

"Labby" Put Up a Brave Front, Though He Was Badly Scared.

During his early diplomatic career while he was attached to the embassy in Stockholm Henry Labouchere fought a duel.

"There was a want of logic about the entire proceeding that went to my heart," he confessed later. "To be killed is bad enough, but to be killed paradoxically is worse. I never felt more dismal in my life."

Paradoxical the combat certainly was, since Labouchere had been the challenger, his ground of offense being that his antagonist, an Austrian officer, had presumed to criticize the British minister for having given social countenance to a fellow Briton who disapproved of duels, had recently declined a challenge from conscientious scruples.

The young diplomat, asserting with spirit that his chief had behaved properly and that Englishmen were not so silly as to fight duels, had left the rest to his seconds—and found himself pledged to fight the next morning with pistols at 7 o'clock. He had hoped for an apology, and admits he was dismayed; but he did not allow his feelings to be divined, and duly made his appearance upon the field of honor.

"The Austrian stood apart; I stood apart. The surgeon already eyed me as a 'subject.' The seconds consulted; then the Frenchman stepped out twelve paces. He had very short legs, and they seemed to be shorter than ever. After this came the loading of the pistols. Sometimes, I thought, seconds do not put in the bullets. That comforted me, but only for a moment, for the bullets were rammed down with cheerful energy. By this time we had been placed facing each other. A pistol was given to each of us. 'I am to give the signal,' said the Prussian. 'I shall count one, two, three, and then at the word fire you will both fire. Gentlemen, are you ready?' We both nodded. 'One, two, three, fire!' and both our pistols went off. No harm had been done."

He thought it was all over, when his opponent, stepping up, remarked that he supposed he ought to allow him a second shot, but, should nothing come of it, he would not consent to a third. Reluctantly on the part of both participants a second shot was fired, and they both missed—if indeed either had aimed—again. Then Labouchere boldly demanded a third shot.

"The seconds consulted together. For a moment I feared they were going to grant my request, and I was greatly relieved when they informed me they considered that two shots were amply sufficient. I was delighted, but I pretended to be most unhappy and kept up the farce of being an aggrieved person."

The whole affair was certainly farcical; but the fun depended upon the leading actors being both very bad marksmen.—Exchange.

It is Indeed.
 In these days of the high cost of living the following story is not without a decided point.

The teacher of a primary class was trying to show the children the difference between natural and man made wonders and was finding it hard.

"What," she asked, "do you think is the most wonderful thing a man ever made?"

A little girl, whose parents were obviously harassed by the question of ways and means, replied as solemnly as the proverbial judge:

"A living for his family."—Woman's Home Companion.

THE KING OF ENGLAND.

No British Commoner Has the Legal Right to Talk to Him.

It is not generally known that there is no right of personal audience of the king of England, and yet it is a well recognized point of constitutional law.

No commoner in the land can claim any such privilege as of right under English law. The matter is one of special privilege even to the members of the house of commons who may have occasion to consult the king on state affairs. Even in such cases the audience is not personal to any member of the house.

"Freedom of access," as it is constitutionally called, is allowed to members of the house of commons through the courtesy of the speaker. The speaker claims the privilege from the lord chancellor at the opening of every parliament, the form of request being that the commons "may have access to his majesty's royal person whenever occasion shall require."

The title of speaker, as applied, somewhat to the bewilderment of the ordinary mortal, to the one member of the house of commons who never by any chance makes a speech, really marks his duty of representing his fellow members in this way in necessary interviews with the monarch. He is the speaker for them all.

In the case of members of the house of lords the privilege of audience is personal, as the peers are individually hereditary counselors of the crown. It need not be exercised through the lord chancellor, who, indeed, is not necessarily a member of the house of lords at all.—London Cor. New York Sun.

War of the Three Petticoats.

A slighting reference by Frederick the Great to Mme. Pompadour, who was the ruling power in France for a score of years in the days of Louis XV., was one of the chief causes of the Seven Years' war, called by a witty Frenchman the "war of the three petticoats" from the fact that Mme. Pompadour of France, Maria Theresa of Austria and Catherine II. of Russia were on the same side in it.

Heat of a Match Flame.

The flame of an ordinary match has a much higher temperature than is generally known and will melt cast iron or steel filings. Try it by striking a match and sprinkle the filings through the flame. Sputtering sparks will be the result of the melting metal.—Popular Mechanics.

Sarcasm.

"I'm sending this communication to an editor. Would you write him that if it is too long he might cut it down to suit himself?"

"Indeed, I should. If you didn't mention it such an idea would never occur to him."—Boston Transcript.
